

COLONEL LINDBERGH LANDS SAFELY

REBEL TROOPS FLEE JUAREZ; FEDERALS AGAIN OCCUPY CITY

Revolters Deserting Westward With Four Flyers

JUAREZ, Chihuahua, Mexico, April 10.—Bearing a kidnapped American airplane mechanic, General Marcello Caraveo, and 2,000 revolutionary soldiers fled westward to the Sierra Madre mountains today, leaving the city of Juarez to a federal army of 800 farmer recruits. The evacuation occurred thirty-three days after the rebels had captured the city in a bloody engagement with federal forces. The warning of a United States army officer from Fort Bliss that American authorities would not permit endangering of lives in the United States by street fighting such as occasioned the battle on March 7, was believed to have figured prominently in averting another battle.

Although the main part of the rebel force had fled to Casa Grande, the regular garrison of 125 rebels under General Marcello Murrieta, rebel commander, remained pending actual surrender of the city today.

Consul General Liekens announced in El Paso that delivery of the city would be made to him at the U. S. immigration station in El Paso. He said a civil government made up of Mexican refugees now in El Paso would be installed, pending occupation by federal troops.

The evacuation order was issued by General Caraveo, rebel governor of the state of Chihuahua, who evacuated Chihuahua City and came to Juarez, wrecking the railroad en route.

General Caraveo's forces, loaded on thirty cars with an airplane and supplies, headed westward to Casa Grande. Four American aviators accompanied them.

Al Coenen, of Los Angeles, a mechanic for the Standard Air Lines in El Paso, Tex., was kidnapped in a cafe, placed under guard on the rebel troop train and told that no rebel would come to him if he obeyed orders. The three other American flyers were Robert H. Polk, Phil Mohun and Pete Stanley, who accompanied the rebels voluntarily to serve in the rebel air force after a new base is established.

The federal army which forced the rebel evacuation was commanded by Colonel Manuel Prieto, who agreed to restrain his farmer recruits from attack after a warning issued by Major A. J. Surles, Fort Bliss intelligence officer. The American warning also had been given rebel forces.

"I will not attempt to occupy Juarez as long as there are troops in the city," Prieto promised Major Surles.

The surrender, arranged last night, specified unconditional terms, but it was arranged after the evacuation by General Caraveo. The rebel force of 125 men remained to maintain order in the city and to prevent looting which was reported in several sections.

General Augustin de la Vega one of the remaining rebel leaders, enlisted the aid of a neutral police force to aid machine gun squads in restoring order in the city.

Police had deserted their beats and the jail, freeing prisoners. Several men had commandeered the police patrol to carry away a barrel of whiskey from a warehouse. A rebel soldier was shot dead attempting to steal liquor.

Scores of rebels deserted, fled across the Rio Grande River to El Paso and surrendered to U. S. immigration authorities who ordered them interned at Fort Bliss.

DEMOCRATS WILL ASSIST MAJORITY

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The Democratic party in the house "will put its shoulder to the Rep. John N. Garner, new minority can majority for all legislation helpful to the American people, Rep. John N. Garner, new minority leader, said today.

"There will be criticism from time to time, of course, but it will be constructive instead of obstructive," Garner told the United Press. "We are solidly behind the administration's program as long as it is the best for the people of the country."

Garner, who is also ranking member of the ways and means committee which is drafting a new tariff act said there would be little opposition to the bill if it followed a readjustment as recommended by President Hoover.

OHIO WESLEYAN IS GIVEN $100,000

DELAWARE, O., April 10.—A gift of $100,000 from John R. Goodall, St. Louis insurance broker, to Ohio Wesleyan University here, was announced today by President Edmund D. Soper.

The purpose of the gift will not be announced until later, Dr. Soper said. The gift was in cash and was available at once. Goodall is a former Wesleyan student.

CHARGES AGAINST CREW OF 'I'M ALONE' DISMISSED

Action Leaves Protest Over Sinking Of Schooner Up To State Department; Drop Case Because Of Lack Of Evidence

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Dismissal of charges against captain and crew of the schooner I'm Alone left the pursuit and sinking of that vessel the sole point of dispute today in the controversy that has developed over the incident between this nation and Canada.

A protest over the sinking of the schooner in the Gulf of Mexico March 22 by a coast guard patrol boat was on file with the state department from the Canadian minister.

Withdrawal of charges against the crew has not affected the other phase of the controversy which involves the right of coast guard cutters to pursue foreign vessels suspected of law violations when within an hour's steaming distance of United States coast.

In announcing dropping of the charges, Attorney General Mitchell said the cases were not prosecuted because investigators have been unable to obtain sufficient evidence of law violations by the crew within our territorial waters.

Emphasizing that this action in no way affects the legality of the sinking of the vessel, he said the two matters were entirely separate questions.

The Norwegian minister also has filed a protest over firing on the steamer Juan, of Oslo, which is operated as a fruit steamer under lease by the United Fruit Co. The vessel was fired upon Friday in Chesapeake Bay by a coast guard patrol boat.

Although the main part of the rebel force had fled to Casa Grande, the regular garrison of 125 rebels under General Marcello Murrieta, rebel commander, remained pending actual surrender of the city today.

Consul General Liekens announced in El Paso that delivery of the city would be made to him at the U. S. immigration station in El Paso. He said a civil government made up of Mexican refugees now in El Paso would be installed, pending occupation by federal troops.

The evacuation order was issued by General Caraveo, rebel governor of the state of Chihuahua, who evacuated Chihuahua City and came to Juarez, wrecking the railroad en route.

General Caraveo's forces, loaded on thirty cars with an airplane and supplies, headed westward to Casa Grande. Four American aviators accompanied them.

Al Coenen, of Los Angeles, a mechanic for the Standard Air Lines in El Paso, Tex., was kidnapped in a cafe, placed under guard on the rebel troop train and told that no rebel would come to him if he obeyed orders. The three other American flyers were Robert H. Polk, Phil Mohun and Pete Stanley, who accompanied the rebels voluntarily to serve in the rebel air force after a new base is established.

The federal army which forced the rebel evacuation was commanded by Colonel Manuel Prieto, who agreed to restrain his farmer recruits from attack after a warning issued by Major A. J. Surles, Fort Bliss intelligence officer. The American warning also had been given rebel forces.

"I will not attempt to occupy Juarez as long as there are troops in the city," Prieto promised Major Surles.

The surrender, arranged last night, specified unconditional terms, but it was arranged after the evacuation by General Caraveo. The rebel force of 125 men remained to maintain order in the city and to prevent looting which was reported in several sections.

General Augustin de la Vega one of the remaining rebel leaders, enlisted the aid of a neutral police force to aid machine gun squads in restoring order in the city.

Police had deserted their beats and the jail, freeing prisoners. Several men had commandeered the police patrol to carry away a barrel of whiskey from a warehouse. A rebel soldier was shot dead attempting to steal liquor.

Scores of rebels deserted, fled across the Rio Grande River to El Paso and surrendered to U. S. immigration authorities who ordered them interned at Fort Bliss.

Several men had commandeered the police patrol to carry away a barrel of whiskey from a warehouse. A rebel soldier was shot dead attempting to steal liquor.

Scores of rebels deserted, fled across the Rio Grande River to El Paso and surrendered to U. S. immigration authorities who ordered them interned at Fort Bliss.

Several men had commandeered the police patrol to carry away a barrel of whiskey from a warehouse. A rebel soldier was shot dead attempting to steal liquor.

Scores of rebels deserted, fled across the Rio Grande River to El Paso and surrendered to U. S. immigration authorities who ordered them interned at Fort Bliss.

Scores of rebels deserted, fled across the Rio Grande River to El Paso and surrendered to U. S. immigration authorities who ordered them interned at Fort Bliss.

DELEGATE TO P-T. A. MEET

Little Confidence Placed In Rumor Made Current

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 10.—Little confidence was felt today in the report of the finding of the airplane Southern Cross, forced down more than a week ago in the wilds of northwest Australia.

A searching pilot flying over the Drysdale River mission was signalled yesterday that the plane was down between the mission and Port George. No mention was made of the four men in the plane, including Capt. Charles E. Kingsford-Smith and Capt. Charles T. P. U. M. trans-Pacific aviators.

Missionaries here said they doubted the truth of the report, which they said probably was circulated at the Drysdale River mission by imaginative natives.

The correspondent of the Sydney guardian at Broome, on the western Australian coast, about 350 miles from the Drysdale River region, said there was no news of the plane there.

When Bateman today reported the many other confirmations made by the senate during its closing hours, he was asked, in the governor's office, about the action on Collins.

A search of the records disclosed that through an oversight the nomination never had been sent to the senate.

If the governor carries out his original intentions Collins will be taken care of by a recess appointment, serving until next session without confirmation.

FIND BODY IN RIVER WELLSVILLE, O., April 10.—Authorities today were attempting to identify the body of a man taken from the Ohio River here.

Although the main part of the rebel force had fled to Casa Grande, the regular garrison of 125 rebels under General Marcello Murrieta, rebel commander, remained pending actual surrender of the city today.

Consul General Liekens announced in El Paso that delivery of the city would be made to him at the U. S. immigration station in El Paso. He said a civil government made up of Mexican refugees now in El Paso would be installed, pending occupation by federal troops.

The evacuation order was issued by General Caraveo, rebel governor of the state of Chihuahua, who evacuated Chihuahua City and came to Juarez, wrecking the railroad en route.

General Caraveo's forces, loaded on thirty cars with an airplane and supplies, headed westward to Casa Grande. Four American aviators accompanied them.

Al Coenen, of Los Angeles, a mechanic for the Standard Air Lines in El Paso, Tex., was kidnapped in a cafe, placed under guard on the rebel troop train and told that no rebel would come to him if he obeyed orders. The three other American flyers were Robert H. Polk, Phil Mohun and Pete Stanley, who accompanied the rebels voluntarily to serve in the rebel air force after a new base is established.

The federal army which forced the rebel evacuation was commanded by Colonel Manuel Prieto, who agreed to restrain his farmer recruits from attack after a warning issued by Major A. J. Surles, Fort Bliss intelligence officer. The American warning also had been given rebel forces.

"I will not attempt to occupy Juarez as long as there are troops in the city," Prieto promised Major Surles.

The surrender, arranged last night, specified unconditional terms, but it was arranged after the evacuation by General Caraveo. The rebel force of 125 men remained to maintain order in the city and to prevent looting which was reported in several sections.

General Augustin de la Vega one of the remaining rebel leaders, enlisted the aid of a neutral police force to aid machine gun squads in restoring order in the city.

Police had deserted their beats and the jail, freeing prisoners. Several men had commandeered the police patrol to carry away a barrel of whiskey from a warehouse. A rebel soldier was shot dead attempting to steal liquor.

Scores of rebels deserted, fled across the Rio Grande River to El Paso and surrendered to U. S. immigration authorities who ordered them interned at Fort Bliss.

Several men had commandeered the police patrol to carry away a barrel of whiskey from a warehouse. A rebel soldier was shot dead attempting to steal liquor.

Scores of rebels deserted, fled across the Rio Grande River to El Paso and surrendered to U. S. immigration authorities who ordered them interned at Fort Bliss.

Scores of rebels deserted, fled across the Rio Grande River to El Paso and surrendered to U. S. immigration authorities who ordered them interned at Fort Bliss.

DAWES MADE AMBASSADOR

HOOPER ANNOUNCES APPOINTMENT WHEN BRITAIN APPROVES

Uncle Sam's Handy Man Gets Biggest Diplomatic Post

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Formal announcement of the appointment of former Vice-President Charles G. Dawes to be ambassador to Great Britain was made at the White House today.

Word that Dawes would be acceptable to the British government was received by the state department this morning. The announcement followed immediately.

The appointment is subject to confirmation by the senate. Dawes has been Uncle Sam's odd-job man for seven years. President Harding selected him early in his administration to be director of the budget. Late in 1923 he was selected by the reparations commission to work out the war indemnities.

Although the state assembly prosecutors were blocked in an attempt to trace a detective agency's report on its investigation at Carmel, Nick Harris, a detective, was scheduled to resume the witness stand today to continue his recital of an investigation at the Carmel bungalow.

J. W. Buchanan, manager of a Los Angeles detective agency, first injected the Carmel cottage incident into the trial when he testified that he was employed by Judge Hardy and Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, to investigate the report of Mrs. McPherson's presence in Carmel.

Judge Hardy is charged with accepting a $2,500 "love offering" from Angelus Temple in return for services rendered Mrs. McPherson during the investigation into her mysterious disappearance.

Buchanan refused to reveal who received his report and confined his testimony to the statement that he was hired by Mrs. Kennedy at a conference attended by Mrs. McPherson and Judge Hardy.

Wallace Moore, Salinas newspaperman, preceded Buchanan and identified Mrs. McPherson as the woman he "thought" he saw in an automobile with Ormiston during the evangelist's disappearance.

Moore, who had covered a revival of the evangelist in Fresno said he stopped the automobile to which he contended was occupied by Ormiston and Mrs. McPherson. Moore testified that the driver maintained he was Frank Gibson of Sacramento and that the woman was his wife.

The credit situation will be brought up by several senators interested in banking as a result of the federal reserve board activities toward curtailment of loans from member banks for speculative purposes.

Senator Glass of Virginia, known as "the father of the federal reserve act" is drawing a bill to meet the situation.

Senator King of Utah has prepared a bill to prevent federal reserve banks from making loans to be used in martial transactions on the stock exchange.

The bill will give liberal hearings in the banking and currency committee and will undoubtedly provoke full discussion from the floor.

Senator Heflin of Alabama announced he will introduce the question of the social position of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, official hostess of Vice President Curtis, when he proposes a joint resolution stating whoever is named by any vice president as his official hostess, shall receive the same social standing as if she were his wife.

House leaders have no such worries because they have decided to use their stringent rules to prevent discussion of any of these or other subjects besides those for which President Hoover is calling the special session.

CLEVELAND, April 10.—Headquarters for the dissemination of information on the proposed constitutional amendment to reappoint the general assembly will be opened this week in various Ohio cities.

Senator George H. Bender, sponsor of the movement to circulate petition to get the amendment on the ballot at the 1929 general election, planned to leave the city today to visit Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati.

In order to carry his proposition to success Bender must get full cooperation of city residents since he is seeking to overthrow rural control of the legislature.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

SAYS "MA" WAS MOVIE FLIRT

Heart-Balm Plaintiff Says Mrs. Kennedy Leaned Against Him In Dark Theater

SEATTLE, Wash., April 10.—A romance that started in a fifteen-cent motion picture house led to the $50,000 breach of promise suit filed against Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy, the Rev. H. H. Clark, plaintiff, asserted today.

The "broken-hearted" minister-plaintiff, told the United Press that Mrs. Kennedy was responsible for the unconventional meeting.

"I was seated in a dark corner of the theater when Mrs. Kennedy came in and took a seat by me," Rev. Clark said.

"She began to lean over against me almost immediately and kept on doing it even after I had moved far away as I could without actually leaving. Soon, she spoke to me and when I went out she followed and persuaded me to have dinner with her."

The meeting led to a series of "love trysts" in Seattle hotels, he continued.

Los Angeles, manager of a Los Angeles detective agency, first injected the Carmel cottage incident into the trial when he testified that he was employed by Judge Hardy and Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, to investigate the report of Mrs. McPherson's presence in Carmel.

Judge Hardy is charged with accepting a $2,500 "love offering" from Angelus Temple in return for services rendered Mrs. McPherson during the investigation into her mysterious disappearance.

Buchanan refused to reveal who received his report and confined his testimony to the statement that he was hired by Mrs. Kennedy at a conference attended by Mrs. McPherson and Judge Hardy.

Wallace Moore, Salinas newspaperman, preceded Buchanan and identified Mrs. McPherson as the woman he "thought" he saw in an automobile with Ormiston during the evangelist's disappearance.

Moore, who had covered a revival of the evangelist in Fresno said he stopped the automobile to which he contended was occupied by Ormiston and Mrs. McPherson. Moore testified that the driver maintained he was Frank Gibson of Sacramento and that the woman was his wife.

The credit situation will be brought up by several senators interested in banking as a result of the federal reserve board activities toward curtailment of loans from member banks for speculative purposes.

Senator Glass of Virginia, known as "the father of the federal reserve act" is drawing a bill to meet the situation.

Senator King of Utah has prepared a bill to prevent federal reserve banks from making loans to be used in martial transactions on the stock exchange.

The bill will give liberal hearings in the banking and currency committee and will undoubtedly provoke full discussion from the floor.

Senator Heflin of Alabama announced he will introduce the question of the social position of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, official hostess of Vice President Curtis, when he proposes a joint resolution stating whoever is named by any vice president as his official hostess, shall receive the same social standing as if she were his wife.

House leaders have no such worries because they have decided to use their stringent rules to prevent discussion of any of these or other subjects besides those for which President Hoover is calling the special session.

CLEVELAND, April 10.—Headquarters for the dissemination of information on the proposed constitutional amendment to reappoint the general assembly will be opened this week in various Ohio cities.

Senator George H. Bender, sponsor of the movement to circulate petition to get the amendment on the ballot at the 1929 general election, planned to leave the city today to visit Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati.

In order to carry his proposition to success Bender must get full cooperation of city residents since he is seeking to overthrow rural control of the legislature.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

TEXAS ON STAND

Prohibition Will Claim Interest Of Special Congress

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Prohibition, the credit situation and the social status of Mrs. Gann have been added by gathering legislators to the program of farm relief and tariff revision to which leaders had hoped to confine the special session of congress opening here next Monday.

Preparations are being made to bring these three issues up at the outset of the senate meeting and the administration program-makers are at a loss to know how to prevent hours of discussions concerning them.

The prohibition debate is expected to be resumed when Senator Tydings of Maryland proposes an amendment to the Jones act, to modify its maximum penalties of five years in jail and $10,000 fines.

The move is to be resisted by drys led by Senator Jones of Washington and the issue probably will be fought to a conclusion.

The credit situation will be brought up by several senators interested in banking as a result of the federal reserve board activities toward curtailment of loans from member banks for speculative purposes.

Senator Glass of Virginia, known as "the father of the federal reserve act" is drawing a bill to meet the situation.

Senator King of Utah has prepared a bill to prevent federal reserve banks from making loans to be used in martial transactions on the stock exchange.

The bill will give liberal hearings in the banking and currency committee and will undoubtedly provoke full discussion from the floor.

Senator Heflin of Alabama announced he will introduce the question of the social position of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, official hostess of Vice President Curtis, when he proposes a joint resolution stating whoever is named by any vice president as his official hostess, shall receive the same social standing as if she were his wife.

House leaders have no such worries because they have decided to use their stringent rules to prevent discussion of any of these or other subjects besides those for which President Hoover is calling the special session.

CLEVELAND, April 10.—Headquarters for the dissemination of information on the proposed constitutional amendment to reappoint the general assembly will be opened this week in various Ohio cities.

Senator George H. Bender, sponsor of the movement to circulate petition to get the amendment on the ballot at the 1929 general election, planned to leave the city today to visit Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati.

In order to carry his proposition to success Bender must get full cooperation of city residents since he is seeking to overthrow rural control of the legislature.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

AVIATOR LANDS AT BROWNSVILLE AND CONTINUES FLIGHT

Anxiety Felt For Flyer; Refuses To Explain Absence

April 10.—Unheard from for more than eighteen hours, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed his Curtiss Falcon biplane at the Municipal Airport here at 9:35 a. m. today.

The flying colonel had left Mexico City Tuesday noon after spending a week with his fiancée, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, daughter of the American ambassador.

Declining to reveal where he had spent the night, Col. Lindbergh left Brownsville today on a continuation of his flight from Mexico City to the East. He did not divulge his immediate destination.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 10.—Concern for the safety of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was aroused today when he failed to be reported at any likely landing place in the United States, nearly eighteen hours after leaving Mexico City by plane.

A careful check of border and southwestern airports failed to give definite news of Lindbergh, but aviators at Kelly Field nevertheless expressed confidence he had come down somewhere for the night. It was pointed out that Lindbergh's habit of keeping his route and destination secret has led to unfounded alarm before.

The fact that Lindbergh was not seen at Tampico, Brownsville or any border point since leaving Mexico City led to wonder, however, The Mexican government was advised late last night from Piedras Negras, on the border opposite Eagle Pass, Texas, that Lindbergh had crossed the border there but the report was not confirmed.

Officials at Eagle Pass said no trace of Lindbergh had been seen there, and it seemed unlikely he could have passed at that hour without being observed by someone in the American town.

Lindbergh left from Valbuena Flying Field, outside Mexico City, after a week's visit to his fiancée, Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of the United States ambassador, Dwight W. Morrow. He would not reveal his destination, but it was assured he was headed for New York, to greet the body of his friend and benefactor, Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

The credit situation will be brought up by several senators interested in banking as a result of the federal reserve board activities toward curtailment of loans from member banks for speculative purposes.

Senator Glass of Virginia, known as "the father of the federal reserve act" is drawing a bill to meet the situation.

Senator King of Utah has prepared a bill to prevent federal reserve banks from making loans to be used in martial transactions on the stock exchange.

The bill will give liberal hearings in the banking and currency committee and will undoubtedly provoke full discussion from the floor.

Senator Heflin of Alabama announced he will introduce the question of the social position of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, official hostess of Vice President Curtis, when he proposes a joint resolution stating whoever is named by any vice president as his official hostess, shall receive the same social standing as if she were his wife.

House leaders have no such worries because they have decided to use their stringent rules to prevent discussion of any of these or other subjects besides those for which President Hoover is calling the special session.

CLEVELAND, April 10.—Headquarters for the dissemination of information on the proposed constitutional amendment to reappoint the general assembly will be opened this week in various Ohio cities.

Senator George H. Bender, sponsor of the movement to circulate petition to get the amendment on the ballot at the 1929 general election, planned to leave the city today to visit Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati.

In order to carry his proposition to success Bender must get full cooperation of city residents since he is seeking to overthrow rural control of the legislature.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

STEVE WASECSE, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Reform from the home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

COLONEL LINDBERGH LANDS SAFELY

REBEL TROOPS FLEE JUAREZ; FEDERALS AGAIN OCCUPY CITY

Revolters Deserting Westward With Four Flyers

JUAREZ, Chihuahua, Mexico, April 10.—Bearing a kidnaped American airplane mechanic, General Marcelino Caraveo, and 2,000 revolutionary soldiers fled westward to the Sierra Madre mountains today, leaving the city of Juarez to a federal army of 800 farmer recruits. The evacuation occurred thirty-three days after the rebel army had captured the city in a bloody engagement with federal forces. The warning of a United States army officer from Fort Bliss that American authorities would not permit endangering of lives in the United States by street fighting such as occasioned the battle on March 7, was believed to have figured prominently in averting another battle.

Although the main part of the rebel force has fled to Casa Grandes, the regular garrison of 125 rebels under General Marcelino Murrieta, rebel commander, remained pending actual surrender of the city today.

Consul General Liekens announced in El Paso that delivery of the city would be made to him by the U. S. immigration station in El Paso. He said a civil government made up of Mexican refugees now in El Paso would be installed, pending occupation by federal troops.

The evacuation order was issued by General Caraveo, rebel governor of the state of Chihuahua, who evacuated Chihuahua City and came to Juarez, wrecking the railroad enroute.

General Caraveo's forces, loaded on thirty cars with an airplane and supplies, headed westward to Casa Grandes. Four American aviators accompanied them.

Al Coenen, of Los Angeles, a mechanic for the Standard Air Lines in El Paso, Tex., was kidnaped in a safe, placed under guard on the rebel troop train and told that no harm would come to him if he obeyed orders. The three other American fliers were Robert H. Polk, Phil Mohun and Pete Stanley, who accompanied the rebels voluntarily to serve in the rebel air force after a new base is established.

The federal army which forced the rebel evacuation was commanded by Colonel Manuel Prieto, who agreed to restrain his farmer recruits from attack after a warning issued by Major A. J. Surles, Fort Bliss intelligence officer. The American warning also had been given rebel forces.

"I will not attempt to occupy Juarez as long as there are troops in the city," Prieto promised Major Surles.

The surrender, arranged last night, specified unconditional terms, but it was arranged after the evacuation by General Caraveo. The rebel force of 125 men remained to maintain order in the city and to prevent looting which was reported in several sections of the remaining rebel leaders, enlisted the aid of a neutral police force to aid machine gun squads in restoring order in the city.

Police had deserted their beats and the jail, freeing prisoners. Several men had commandeered the police patrol to carry away a barrel of whiskey from a warehouse. A rebel soldier was shot death attempting to steal liquor.

Scores of rebels deserted, fled across the Rio Grande River to El Paso and surrendered to U. S. immigration authorities who ordered them interned at Fort Bliss.

DEMOCRATS WILL ASSIST MAJORITY

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The Democratic party in the house "will put its shoulder to the Rep. John N. Garner, new majority leader, for all legislation helpful to the American people, Rep. John N. Garner, new minority leader, said today.

"There will be criticism from time to time, of course, but it will be constructive instead of obstructive," Garner told the United Press. "We are solidly behind the administration's program as long as it is the best for the people of the country."

Garner, who is also ranking member of the ways and means committee which is drafting a new tariff act said there would be little opposition to the bill if it followed a readjustment as recommended by President Hoover.

CHARGES AGAINST CREW OF I'M ALONE DISMISSED

Action Leaves Protest Over Sinking Of Schooner Up To State Department; Drop Case Because Of Lack Of Evidence

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Dismissal of charges against captain and crew of the schooner I'm Alone left the pursuit and sinking of that vessel the sole point of dispute today in the controversy that has developed over the incident between this nation and Canada.

A protest over the sinking of the schooner, in the Gulf of Mexico March 22 by a coast guard patrol boat was on file with the state department from the Canadian minister.

Withdrawal of charges against the crew has not affected the other phase of the controversy which involves the right of coast guard cutters to pursue foreign vessels suspected of law violations when within an hour's steaming distance of United States coast.

In announcing dropping of the charges, Attorney General Mitchell said the cases were not prosecuted because investigators have been unable to obtain sufficient evidence of law violations by the crew within our territorial waters.

Emphasizing that this action in no way affects the legality of the sinking of the vessel, he said the two matters were entirely separate questions.

The Norwegian minister also has filed a protest over firing on the steamer Juan, of Oslo, which is operated as a fruit steamer under lease by the United Fruit Co. The vessel was fired upon Friday in Chesapeake Bay by a coast guard patrol boat.

The appointment of Charles G. Dawes to be ambassador to Great Britain was made at the White House today.

Word that Dawes would be acceptable to the British government was received by the state department this morning.

The announcement followed immediately.

The appointment is subject to confirmation by the senate.

Dawes has been Uncle Sam's odd-job man for seven years.

President Harding selected him early in his administration to be director of the budget. Late in 1923 he was selected by the republicans to work out the war indemnities tangle for financially prostrated Europe.

Submitting the celebrated 40,000 word Dawes plan report on April 5, 1924, he was nominated by the Republican national convention two months later for the vice-presidency with Calvin Coolidge.

Immediately upon completing this term last month, he was asked by the government of Santo Domingo to assist in reorganizing national finances. The job, just getting under way, will require about five weeks.

Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton, at London, plans to sail for the United States April 27.

Not only did Stimson neatly sidestep the issue but he took precautions against further difficulties of the same nature by informing Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, and Curtis that the state department will no longer give advice in matters of social precedence, except within the corps itself.

Stimson assured Curtis, however, that the matter will work out with the fullest courtesy to you and your official hostess," and told Sir Esme "any courtesy which they (members of the diplomatic corps) choose to show the Vice President and Mrs. Gann will be most acceptable to me."

These statements in letter made public by the state department were the basis for predictions that diplomatic corps will choose to disregard Kellogg's ruling and accord Mrs. Gann the position her brother has demanded for her.

Although he said in the Curtis letter he believed Kellogg's ruling "states the custom which has prevailed during recent years," Stimson questioned the authority of the state department to rule on precedence when American officials and their families are involved.

The announcement of Stimson's disposition of the Gann case followed a lengthy conference between him and Sir Esme, who had left a memorandum explaining several members of the corps wished to entertain the vice president and his hostess and desired "to avoid any possible discourtesy" to them.

These statements in letter made public by the state department were the basis for predictions that diplomatic corps will choose to disregard Kellogg's ruling and accord Mrs. Gann the position her brother has demanded for her.

Although he said in the Curtis letter he believed Kellogg's ruling "states the custom which has prevailed during recent years," Stimson questioned the authority of the state department to rule on precedence when American officials and their families are involved.

DAWES MADE AMBASSADOR

HOOPER ANNOUNCES APPOINTMENT WHEN BRITAIN APPROVES

Uncle Sam's Handy Man Gets Biggest Diplomatic Post

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Formal announcement of the appointment of former Vice-President Charles G. Dawes to be ambassador to Great Britain was made at the White House today.

Word that Dawes would be acceptable to the British government was received by the state department this morning.

The announcement followed immediately.

The appointment is subject to confirmation by the senate.

Dawes has been Uncle Sam's odd-job man for seven years.

President Harding selected him early in his administration to be director of the budget. Late in 1923 he was selected by the republicans to work out the war indemnities tangle for financially prostrated Europe.

Submitting the celebrated 40,000 word Dawes plan report on April 5, 1924, he was nominated by the Republican national convention two months later for the vice-presidency with Calvin Coolidge.

Immediately upon completing this term last month, he was asked by the government of Santo Domingo to assist in reorganizing national finances. The job, just getting under way, will require about five weeks.

Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton, at London, plans to sail for the United States April 27.

Not only did Stimson neatly sidestep the issue but he took precautions against further difficulties of the same nature by informing Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, and Curtis that the state department will no longer give advice in matters of social precedence, except within the corps itself.

Stimson assured Curtis, however, that the matter will work out with the fullest courtesy to you and your official hostess," and told Sir Esme "any courtesy which they (members of the diplomatic corps) choose to show the Vice President and Mrs. Gann will be most acceptable to me."

These statements in letter made public by the state department were the basis for predictions that diplomatic corps will choose to disregard Kellogg's ruling and accord Mrs. Gann the position her brother has demanded for her.

Although he said in the Curtis letter he believed Kellogg's ruling "states the custom which has prevailed during recent years," Stimson questioned the authority of the state department to rule on precedence when American officials and their families are involved.

The announcement of Stimson's disposition of the Gann case followed a lengthy conference between him and Sir Esme, who had left a memorandum explaining several members of the corps wished to entertain the vice president and his hostess and desired "to avoid any possible discourtesy" to them.

These statements in letter made public by the state department were the basis for predictions that diplomatic corps will choose to disregard Kellogg's ruling and accord Mrs. Gann the position her brother has demanded for her.

Although he said in the Curtis letter he believed Kellogg's ruling "states the custom which has prevailed during recent years," Stimson questioned the authority of the state department to rule on precedence when American officials and their families are involved.

The announcement of Stimson's disposition of the Gann case followed a lengthy conference between him and Sir Esme, who had left a memorandum explaining several members of the corps wished to entertain the vice president and his hostess and desired "to avoid any possible discourtesy" to them.

These statements in letter made public by the state department were the basis for predictions that diplomatic corps will choose to disregard Kellogg's ruling and accord Mrs. Gann the position her brother has demanded for her.

Although he said in the Curtis letter he believed Kellogg's ruling "states the custom which has prevailed during recent years," Stimson questioned the authority of the state department to rule on precedence when American officials and their families are involved.

The announcement of Stimson's disposition of the Gann case followed a lengthy conference between him and Sir Esme, who had left a memorandum explaining several members of the corps wished to entertain the vice president and his hostess and desired "to avoid any possible discourtesy" to them.

These statements in letter made public by the state department were the basis for predictions that diplomatic corps will choose to disregard Kellogg's ruling and accord Mrs. Gann the position her brother has demanded for her.

Although he said in the Curtis letter he believed Kellogg's ruling "states the custom which has prevailed during recent years," Stimson questioned the authority of the state department to rule on precedence when American officials and their families are involved.

SAYS "MA" WAS MOVIE FLIRT

Heart-Balm Plaintiff Says Mrs. Kennedy Leaned Against Him In Dark Theater

SEATTLE, Wash., April 10.—A romance that started in a fifteen-cent motion picture house led to the $50,000 breach of promise suit filed against Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy, the Rev. H. H. Clark, plaintiff, asserted today.

The "broken-hearted" minister-plaintiff, told the United Press that Mrs. Kennedy was responsible for the unconventional meeting.

"I was seated in a dark corner of the theater when Mrs. Kennedy came in and took a seat by me," Rev. Clark said.

"She began to lean over against me almost immediately and kept on doing it even after I had moved far away as I could without actually leaving. Soon, she spoke to me and when I went out she followed and persuaded me to have dinner with her."

The meeting led to a series of "love trysts" in Seattle hotels, he continued. In the trysts, the mother of Almee Semple McPherson assertedly "trapped the plaintiff into a compromising situation by promises of marriage," Rev. Clark charged.

Rev. Clark said Mrs. Kennedy was known to him as "Mrs. Mary C. Clark" and that Mrs. Kennedy used that name in all their meetings.

Rev. Clark asserted he and "Mrs. Clark" occupied the same room in the Bergonian hotel on the night of January 6 and adjoining rooms in the same hotel on April 22. The register however, showed that Mrs. Kennedy was registered under her own name on those dates while Clark contended she registered as "Mrs. Clark" on both occasions.

While the minister continued his recital, Mrs. Kennedy was issuing denial of his story and accusing him of blackmail.

Preparations are being made to bring these three issues up at the outset of the senate meeting and the administration program-makers are at a loss to know how to prevent hours of discussions concerning them.

Buchanan refused to reveal who received his report and confined his testimony to the statement that he was hired by Mrs. Kennedy at a conference attended by Mrs. McPherson and Judge Hardy.

Wallace Moore, Salinas newspaperman, preceded Buchanan and identified Mrs. McPherson as the woman he "thought" he saw in an automobile with Ormiston during the evangelist disappearance.

Moore, who had covered a revival of the evangelist in Fresno said he stopped the automobile which he contended was occupied by Ormiston and Mrs. McPherson. Moore testified that the driver maintained he was Frank Gibson of Sacramento and that the woman was his wife.

The credit situation will be brought up by several senators interested in banking as a result of the federal reserve board activities toward curtailment of loans from member banks for speculative purposes.

Senator Glass of Virginia, known as "the father of the federal reserve act" is drawing a bill to meet the situation.

Senator King of Utah has prepared a bill to prevent federal reserve banks from making loans to be used in marginal transactions on the stock exchange.

The bill will get liberal hearings in the banking and currency committee and will undoubtedly provoke full discussion from the floor.

Senator Heflin of Alabama has announced he will introduce the question of the social position of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, official hostess of Vice President Curtis, when he proposes a joint resolution stating whoever is named by any vice president as his official hostess, shall receive the same social standing as if she were his wife.

House leaders have no such worries because they have decided to use their stringent rules to prevent discussion of any of these or other subjects besides those for which President Hoover is calling the special session.

CLEVELAND, April 10.—Headquarters for the dissemination of information on the proposed constitutional amendment to reappoint the general assembly will be opened this week in various Ohio cities.

Senator George H. Bender, sponsor of the movement to circulate petition to get the amendment on the ballot at the 1929 general election, planned to leave the city late today to visit Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati.

In order to carry his proposition to success Bender must get full co-operation of city residents since he is seeking to overthrow rural control of the legislature.

STEVE BRACCES, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Research home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

TEXAS ON STAND

TEXAS GUINAN

TEXAS GUINAN, New York night club hostess, took the witness stand today in her trial on a charge of operating a "common nuisance"—the Salon Royale—where prohibition agents testified they purchased liquor.

Preparations are being made to bring these three issues up at the outset of the senate meeting and the administration program-makers are at a loss to know how to prevent hours of discussions concerning them.

Buchanan refused to reveal who received his report and confined his testimony to the statement that he was hired by Mrs. Kennedy at a conference attended by Mrs. McPherson and Judge Hardy.

Wallace Moore, Salinas newspaperman, preceded Buchanan and identified Mrs. McPherson as the woman he "thought" he saw in an automobile with Ormiston during the evangelist disappearance.

Moore, who had covered a revival of the evangelist in Fresno said he stopped the automobile which he contended was occupied by Ormiston and Mrs. McPherson. Moore testified that the driver maintained he was Frank Gibson of Sacramento and that the woman was his wife.

The credit situation will be brought up by several senators interested in banking as a result of the federal reserve board activities toward curtailment of loans from member banks for speculative purposes.

Senator Glass of Virginia, known as "the father of the federal reserve act" is drawing a bill to meet the situation.

Senator King of Utah has prepared a bill to prevent federal reserve banks from making loans to be used in marginal transactions on the stock exchange.

The bill will get liberal hearings in the banking and currency committee and will undoubtedly provoke full discussion from the floor.

Senator Heflin of Alabama has announced he will introduce the question of the social position of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, official hostess of Vice President Curtis, when he proposes a joint resolution stating whoever is named by any vice president as his official hostess, shall receive the same social standing as if she were his wife.

House leaders have no such worries because they have decided to use their stringent rules to prevent discussion of any of these or other subjects besides those for which President Hoover is calling the special session.

CLEVELAND, April 10.—Headquarters for the dissemination of information on the proposed constitutional amendment to reappoint the general assembly will be opened this week in various Ohio cities.

Senator George H. Bender, sponsor of the movement to circulate petition to get the amendment on the ballot at the 1929 general election, planned to leave the city late today to visit Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati.

In order to carry his proposition to success Bender must get full co-operation of city residents since he is seeking to overthrow rural control of the legislature.

STEVE BRACCES, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Research home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

AVIATOR LANDS AT BROWNSVILLE AND CONTINUES FLIGHT

Anxiety Felt For Flyer; Refuses To Explain Absence

April 10.—Unheard from for more than eighteen hours, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed his Curtiss Falcon biplane at the Municipal Airport here at 9:35 a. m. today.

The flying colonel had left Mexico City Tuesday noon after spending a week with his fiancée, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, daughter of the American ambassador.

Declining to reveal where he had spent the night, Col. Lindbergh left Brownsville today on a continuation of his flight from Mexico City to the East. He did not divulge his immediate destination.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 10.—Concern for the safety of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was aroused today when he failed to be reported at any likely landing place in the United States, nearly eighteen hours after leaving Mexico City by plane.

A careful check of border and southwestern airports failed to give definite news of Lindbergh, but aviators at Kelly Field nevertheless expressed confidence he had come down somewhere for the night. It was pointed out that Lindbergh's habit of keeping his route and destination secret has led to unfounded alarm before.

The fact that Lindbergh was not seen at Tampico, Brownsville or any border point since leaving Mexico City led to wonder, however, The Mexican government was advised late last night from Piedras Negras, on the border opposite Eagle Pass, Texas, that Lindbergh had crossed the border there but the report was not confirmed.

Officials at Eagle Pass said no trace of Lindbergh had been seen there, and it seemed unlikely he could have passed at that hour without being observed by someone in the American town.

Lindbergh left from Valbuena Flying Field, outside Mexico City, after a week's visit to his fiancée, Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of the United States ambassador, Dwight W. Morrow. He would not reveal his destination, but it was assured he was headed for New York, to greet the body of his friend and benefactor, Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

The credit situation will be brought up by several senators interested in banking as a result of the federal reserve board activities toward curtailment of loans from member banks for speculative purposes.

Senator Glass of Virginia, known as "the father of the federal reserve act" is drawing a bill to meet the situation.

Senator King of Utah has prepared a bill to prevent federal reserve banks from making loans to be used in marginal transactions on the stock exchange.

The bill will get liberal hearings in the banking and currency committee and will undoubtedly provoke full discussion from the floor.

Senator Heflin of Alabama has announced he will introduce the question of the social position of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, official hostess of Vice President Curtis, when he proposes a joint resolution stating whoever is named by any vice president as his official hostess, shall receive the same social standing as if she were his wife.

House leaders have no such worries because they have decided to use their stringent rules to prevent discussion of any of these or other subjects besides those for which President Hoover is calling the special session.

CLEVELAND, April 10.—Headquarters for the dissemination of information on the proposed constitutional amendment to reappoint the general assembly will be opened this week in various Ohio cities.

Senator George H. Bender, sponsor of the movement to circulate petition to get the amendment on the ballot at the 1929 general election, planned to leave the city late today to visit Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati.

In order to carry his proposition to success Bender must get full co-operation of city residents since he is seeking to overthrow rural control of the legislature.

STEVE BRACCES, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Research home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

WAVERTY, O., April 10.—Dorothy Haynes, 7, was killed here late yesterday when a shotgun was discharged by her four-year-old brother, Charles. The gun was standing in a corner. Charles accidentally knocked it down then, while playing with it, pulled the trigger. The seeking "protection" Groh was recently ousted from office by Governor Cooper.

PROSECUTION IN HARDY TRIAL PROBING CARMEL "LOVE NEST"

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 10.—Motivated by prosecution questioning concerning the alleged "love nest" of Kenneth G. Ormiston at Carmel-by-the-Sea, the mysterious disappearance of the Titian haired Almee Semple McPherson was elevated to new prominence today in the impeachment trial of Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy.

Although the state assembly prosecutors were blocked in an attempt to trace a detective agency's report on its investigation at Carmel, Nick Harris, a detective, was scheduled to resume the witness stand today to continue his recital of an investigation at the Carmel bungalow.

J. W. Buchanan, manager of a Los Angeles detective agency, first injected the Carmel cottage incident into the trial when he testified that he was employed by Judge Hardy and Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, to investigate the report of Mrs. McPherson's presence in Carmel.

Judge Hardy is charged with accepting a $2,500 "love offering" from Angelus Temple in return for services rendered Mrs. McPherson during the investigation into her mysterious disappearance.

Buchanan refused to reveal who received his report and confined his testimony to the statement that he was hired by Mrs. Kennedy at a conference attended by Mrs. McPherson and Judge Hardy.

Wallace Moore, Salinas newspaperman, preceded Buchanan and identified Mrs. McPherson as the woman he "thought" he saw in an automobile with Ormiston during the evangelist disappearance.

Moore, who had covered a revival of the evangelist in Fresno said he stopped the automobile which he contended was occupied by Ormiston and Mrs. McPherson. Moore testified that the driver maintained he was Frank Gibson of Sacramento and that the woman was his wife.

The credit situation will be brought up by several senators interested in banking as a result of the federal reserve board activities toward curtailment of loans from member banks for speculative purposes.

Senator Glass of Virginia, known as "the father of the federal reserve act" is drawing a bill to meet the situation.

Senator King of Utah has prepared a bill to prevent federal reserve banks from making loans to be used in marginal transactions on the stock exchange.

The bill will get liberal hearings in the banking and currency committee and will undoubtedly provoke full discussion from the floor.

Senator Heflin of Alabama has announced he will introduce the question of the social position of Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, official hostess of Vice President Curtis, when he proposes a joint resolution stating whoever is named by any vice president as his official hostess, shall receive the same social standing as if she were his wife.

House leaders have no such worries because they have decided to use their stringent rules to prevent discussion of any of these or other subjects besides those for which President Hoover is calling the special session.

CLEVELAND, April 10.—Headquarters for the dissemination of information on the proposed constitutional amendment to reappoint the general assembly will be opened this week in various Ohio cities.

Senator George H. Bender, sponsor of the movement to circulate petition to get the amendment on the ballot at the 1929 general election, planned to leave the city late today to visit Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati.

In order to carry his proposition to success Bender must get full co-operation of city residents since he is seeking to overthrow rural control of the legislature.

STEVE BRACCES, 17, a runaway from the Bureau of Juvenile Research home at Columbus, surrendered himself to Xenia police Tuesday and is being held at Police Headquarters pending the arrival of an officer from the Columbus institution. The boy said he ran away Tuesday and "thumbed" rides as far as this city.

WAVERTY, O., April 10.—Dorothy Haynes, 7, was killed here late yesterday when a shotgun was discharged by her four-year-old brother, Charles. The gun was standing in a corner. Charles accidentally knocked it down then, while playing with it, pulled the trigger. The seeking "protection" Groh was recently ousted from office by Governor Cooper.

WAVERTY, O., April 10.—Dorothy Haynes, 7, was killed here late yesterday when a shotgun was discharged by her four-year-old brother, Charles. The gun was standing in a corner. Charles accidentally knocked it down then, while playing with it, pulled the trigger. The seeking "protection" Groh was recently ousted from office by Governor Cooper.

WAVERTY, O., April 10.—Dorothy Haynes, 7, was killed here late yesterday when a shotgun was discharged by her four-year-old brother, Charles. The gun was standing in a corner. Charles accidentally knocked it down then, while playing with it, pulled the trigger. The seeking "protection" Groh was recently ousted from office by Governor Cooper.

WAVERTY, O., April 10.—Dorothy Haynes, 7, was killed here late yesterday when a shotgun was discharged by her four-year-old brother, Charles. The gun was standing in a corner. Charles accidentally knocked it down then, while playing with it, pulled the trigger. The seeking "protection" Groh was recently ousted from office by Governor Cooper.

WAVERTY, O., April 10.—Dorothy Haynes, 7, was killed here late yesterday when a shotgun was discharged by her four-year-old brother, Charles. The gun was standing in a corner. Charles accidentally knocked it down then, while playing with it, pulled the trigger. The seeking "protection" Groh was recently ousted from office by Governor Cooper.

WAVERTY, O., April 10.—Dorothy Haynes, 7, was killed here late yesterday when a shotgun was discharged by her four-year-old brother, Charles. The gun was standing in a corner. Charles accidentally knocked it down then, while playing with it, pulled the trigger. The seeking "protection" Groh was recently ousted from office by Governor Cooper.

WAVERTY, O., April 10.—Dorothy Haynes, 7, was killed here late yesterday when a shotgun was discharged by her four-year-old brother, Charles. The gun was standing in a corner. Charles accidentally knocked it down then, while playing with it, pulled the trigger. The seeking "protection" Groh was recently ousted from office by Governor Cooper.

THE THREE MEN VANISHED-In a Flash!

The Dark House of Terror With Its Weird Underground Noises Swallowed Them Up

BOOM-BOOM! Boom-boom! BOOM! Underground noises near the sea---what was the cause of them? Some said one thing, some another.

One day a romantic young clerk named Brown---just plain Brown---ate lunch in a King's Cross restaurant. That simple and innocent action brought him suddenly and momentarily into a thrilling and tragic mystery; a mystery involving a haunted house, a beautiful girl in distress, a villain of the deepest dye and other interesting characters among whom are Rupert and Charlie.

Who wins the girl? Ah, that is the story! Joseph Jefferson Farjeon, the author, tells about it while you hold your breath in suspense with only three minutes between the heroine and---what happens to her!

Surprise follows surprise in bewildering succession. This is Farjeon at his best, and Farjeon at his best knows no superior among writers of mystery stories. Watch for the first chapter---read this great love and mystery story!

UNDERGROUND

A Love And Mystery Story

By J. JEFFERSON FARJEON

ONE OF THE MOST BRILLIANT OF THE YOUNGER MYSTERY WRITERS
GRANDSON OF THE FAMOUS AMERICAN ACTOR, JOE JEFFERSON

STARTS TODAY IN THE GAZETTE

THE THREE MEN VANISHED-In a Flash!

The Dark House of Terror With Its Weird Underground Noises Swallowed Them Up

BOOM-BOOM! Boom-boom! BOOM! Underground noises near the sea---what was the cause of them? Some said one thing, some another.

One day a romantic young clerk named Brown---just plain Brown---ate lunch in a King's Cross restaurant. That simple and innocent action brought him suddenly and momentarily into a thrilling and tragic mystery; a mystery involving a haunted house, a beautiful girl in distress, a villain of the deepest dye and other interesting characters among whom are Rupert and Charlie.

Who wins the girl? Ah, that is the story! Joseph Jefferson Farjeon, the author, tells about it while you hold your breath in suspense with only three minutes between the heroine and---what happens to her!

Surprise follows surprise in bewildering succession. This is Farjeon at his best, and Farjeon at his best knows no superior among writers of mystery stories. Watch for the first chapter---read this great love and mystery story!

UNDERGROUND

A Love And Mystery Story

By J. JEFFERSON FARJEON

ONE OF THE MOST BRILLIANT OF THE YOUNGER MYSTERY WRITERS
GRANDSON OF THE FAMOUS AMERICAN ACTOR, JOE JEFFERSON

STARTS TODAY IN THE GAZETTE

Society-Personal-Clubs

THE NICEST courtesy you can show your guests is to have their visits mentioned on this page. The nicest courtesy you can show your friends is to let them learn of your visits through this page whenever you go away. The Gazette considers it a favor whenever you turn in an item of any kind. PHONE 76.

SPRING HILL P. T. A. HEARS SUPERINTENDENT
Superintendent of Schools Louis Hammerle talked on "School Finances" at a meeting of the Spring Hill Parent-Teacher Association in the school auditorium, Monday afternoon.

Mr. Hammerle also urged that children be examined before entering school next fall. Mrs. Paul Turnbull was elected president of the organization for the coming year, at the election held at this meeting.

Mrs. Fred Schultz was elected vice-president, Mrs. Lynn Wilson, secretary, Mrs. Karl Buck, treasurer, and Miss Alta Turner, publicity secretary.

A short business meeting followed the program at which time it was decided to hold a covered dish supper at the school Friday, May 10 at 6:30.

Miss Evers' room gave a short health program at the beginning of the meeting.

ENTERTAIN AT FAREWELL PARTY

Mrs. James Sidders entertained with three tables of 500, at her home on W. Second St., Saturday evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Powell, who are leaving Saturday, April 12 for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will make their future home. Mr. Powell will be employed by the Metropolitan Life Ins. Co.

A guest prize was awarded to Mrs. C. A. Mitchell while Mrs. C. A. Mitchell was awarded the high score prize.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hansell, Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Harner, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Powell and Mr. and Mrs. James Sidders.

CEDAR CLIFF CHAPTER ENTERTAINED

Mrs. H. C. Aultman assisted by Mrs. F. P. Hastings was a delightful hostess to members of Cedar Cliff Chapter, D. A. R., Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting opened with a paper read by Mrs. Howard Turnbull on "National Defense." Reports were given by Mrs. Aultman, Mrs. J. S. West and Mrs. Irvin regarding the conference at Toledo.

Following the program a business session was held at which time a committee was appointed to make plans to decorate the old soldiers graves in the Old Masses Creek Cemetery.

The hostess served a lovely salad course following the business hour.

The A. C. Turrell W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. Jeannette Anderson, 38 W. Market St., at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Members please be prepared to pay dues.

AFFLICTIONS OF YEARS FIND END IN NEW KONJOLA

Well Known Resident of Washington C. H., Relates His Remarkable Experience.

"I am seventy-eight, and the many people who know me here in my home town, know that for many years I was almost a helpless cripple as the result of rheumatism and other ailments," said Mr. Samuel Douglass, 565 Leesburg Ave., Washington C. H.

MR. SAMUEL DOUGLASS

"They know that I had to walk about on crutches, and they know that for weeks at a time I was confined to my bed, unable to be up and around. For fifteen years I suffered from this terrible affliction, which centered in my knees and lower limbs. Indigestion added to my misery; ailing kidneys got me up as many as eight times a night, and I was miserable all over and in every way.

"My attention was drawn to the many endorsements of Konjola. Could this medicine do me any good? Konjola surely went to the very root of my trouble. Just two bottles of this Konjola banished all my rheumatism, indigestion and kidney troubles. No wonder this Konjola is the most talked of medicine in America."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains 22 juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and run-down systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Gallaher drug store, and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section. Adv.

OBEDIENT COUNCIL HOLDS CLASS INITIATION
The ritualistic work of the Daughters of America Lodge was beautifully demonstrated to a class of twenty candidates, consisting of sixteen women and four men, initiated into the Obedient Council, No. 160, D. of A., Tuesday evening at the Junior Order Hall. This large class initiation was witnessed by ninety members of the order, six councils being represented.

Mrs. Carrie Faulkner, past national councillor and Mrs. Myrtle Wood, state councillor, were present for the ceremony.

Following the initiation, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the committee in charge.

MISS DAVIDSON MARRIES IN FLORIDA

Xenia friends are interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Edith Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Davidson, Daytona, Fla., former Xenians to Mr. Harold Stevens of Daytona, which took place there Tuesday, April 2.

Mrs. Stevens was born in Xenia and attended Central High School here before she moved to Florida with her parents, where she finished her schooling. She has many friends here who received the interesting announcement of her marriage recently. Mr. Stevens is a U. S. customs officer at Daytona, where the young couple will make their home.

CURRENT EVENTS CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Frank Keyes was a charming hostess to the "Current Events Club" at her home on Oxford Ave., Dayton, Tuesday afternoon. There were ten members present. Mrs. Carl Marshall read a paper on "Home and Housing" which was very well prepared.

Mrs. J. W. Santmyer was elected president of the organization for the coming year, Mrs. H. L. Sayre, vice-president and Mrs. Carl Marshall, secretary.

Following the business session the hostess served a lovely luncheon.

The W. R. C. will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the meeting room in the Court House. There will be an election on president at this meeting and all members are urged to be present.

The Union Community Club will meet at the school, Friday evening. Each member is asked to bring a dime.

Mrs. Asa Price and two children, Pleasant St., and Mrs. L. E. Kurliss, near Xenia, spent the week-end in Columbus with Mrs. Price's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Whitehead. Mrs. Whitehead entered University Hospital, Friday, preparation to undergo a serious operation. Mr. Whitehead was discharged from Grant Hospital Friday where he had been confined for seven weeks, suffering from injuries to his feet, received in an accident.

Routine business is scheduled for transaction by City Commission at its bi-monthly meeting at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

Mrs. Margaret Bergen, Cincinnati Ave., was called to Cincinnati Saturday because of the serious illness of her son, Mr. Emmett Bergen.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Woman's Aid of the Cincinnati Division will meet Thursday at the club rooms on Eastern Ave., Cincinnati, for an all day meeting. Luncheon will be served at noon for a small fee. All members are urged to be present.

Mr. William Miller, student at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., is spending his spring vacation here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Miller, N. Detroit St.

Mrs. Hugh Smith, Bozeman, Mont., who has been visiting friends and relatives here for the past six weeks, will return to her home Thursday.

FOR YOUR ELECTRICAL WORK Call

DUTCH HARNER
Phone 1167
Nothing Too Large
Or Too Small

YOU PAY LESS AT

Kennedy's
39 West Main

SPECIAL
This Week Only
Hat Cleaned and blocked
$1.00
DeMint's
TOGGERY SHOP
15 Green St.

Miss Pauline Hald, New Haven, Conn., arrived in this city Monday morning to spend the week with Miss Mary Little, N. King St. She is to be one of the bridesmaids at Miss Little's wedding Saturday and was a class mate of Miss Little at Wellesley College.

Tommy Adair, small son of Mr. and Mrs. James Adair, N. King St., who has been ill for some time, is improving.

Mrs. William M. Wilson and Mrs. William McGervey will leave Thursday afternoon for Washington, D. C., where they will attend the National Congress of the D. A. R. April 15-20. Mrs. A. C. Messenger will leave Friday morning and will join them in Washington.

Mr. Lester Crox, for a number of years telegraph operator for the Pennsylvania Railroad in Xenia and later Western Union operator at Cincinnati, is seriously ill at his home in Alpha with a complication of ailments.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lanus, Columbus have returned to their home after spending a few days with Mrs. Lanus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cross, W. Church St.

Mrs. Inez Armstrong of Yellow Springs conducted the annual inspection of the Elizabeth M. Hood Chapter, Eastern Star of Urbana Tuesday night. The ceremony was attended by 125 members and following the initiation the annual banquet was held.

McKinley School teachers were hostesses to a group of friends Tuesday evening when they entertained with a lovely dinner party at the school building. The school was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. Games and contests were enjoyed following the dinner.

Miss Edna Wright, W. Second St., entertained at her home Sunday, Misses Mary and Margaret Meeann, Dayton and Messrs. Robert Bonner and James Buckley, Columbus.

PRESBYTERY NAMES NEW MODERATOR

The Rev. W. H. Tilford and D. B. Watt spent Monday and Tuesday in Oxford where they attended the Presbytery meeting at Memorial Church.

The Rev. Ivan L. Wilkins, assistant pastor of the Covenant Church of Springfield was elected moderator for the coming six months. He succeeds the Rev. William Wilson.

Chaplain J. King Gibson, was re-elected to succeed himself as stated clerk of the Presbytery. He begins his thirty-seventh year in this service. He was also elected a delegate to the general assembly in Minneapolis, Minn., in May. The Rev. Daniel Myers was the other delegate elected to attend this meeting.

The Rev. Carl White, chairman evangelist, made a report on the state-wide campaign on evangelism to be held next fall.

SCOUT NEWS

Troop No. 41, Boy Scouts of America will meet at the Scout cabin promptly at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. Each Scout is requested by Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury to bring a plate, cup, knife, fork and spoon.

CHICHESTERS PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND
Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chichester's Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold Metallic Boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbons. Take one either, Day or Night, after your meals. Ask for your Druggist's Diamond Brand Pills, for 40 years known the world over. Beware of cheap imitations. Sold by Druggists Everywhere.

See "The Romantic Age"

One of the best comedies ever presented at the Central High School Auditorium
April 11 and 12.
8:00 p. m.

FOR SALE

One of nicest and most up-to-date 5 room Bungalows in the city, bath, electricity, hot and cold water, furnace and garage, on paved street, N. Detroit. Immediate possession. See
Dr. A. C. Messenger

Don't Forget The Children

like to play in sand. Order them a load of clean, washed sand from the

XENIA GRAVEL PLANT

Phone 1038

We can also furnish you with washed gravel and sand for concrete, pebbles and crushed chips for driveways.

TOP SOIL FOR THE LAWN

On your next Cement job insist on washed gravel and sand as it will give you a clean strong lasting job.

Call us for prices on deliveries. It will be a pleasure to quote you.

DELINQUENCY CHARGES AGAINST FOUR YOUTHS ARE DISMISSED

Delinquency complaints charging four Xenia youths with transporting two runaway girls, pupils of the O. S. and S. O. Home, from Xenia to Dayton last March 5, the date of their disappearance from the Home grounds, were dismissed by Judge S. C. Wright at a hearing Wednesday morning. Judge Wright took the viewpoint that while the boys undoubtedly did the wrong thing in "picking up" the girls and riding them to Dayton in their auto, the boys had never been in trouble before and readily admitted they were at fault. The boys did not recognize them from their dress as being inmates of the institution and did not learn that they were runaways until they had almost reached Dayton, they said.

The four youths, ranging in age from 13 to 17 years, were rounded up as a result of complaints filed against them by Alfred Heim, 215 Revere Ave., Dayton, father of Alice Heim, 15, one of the runaway pupils. The other girl, Audrey Kayser, 17, has not been located. The Heim girl was found in Cincinnati by her father.

The Heim girl is in the custody of her father and will not be readmitted to the Home here, it is said.

EX-PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO BE INSURANCE COMPANY DIRECTOR

NEW YORK, April 10.—Calvin Coolidge today accepted nomination as a member of the board of directors of the New York Life Insurance Company, to succeed the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick. It is the first official connection outside of writing, that the former president has made since his retirement from office March 4. He is the second former president to be in the life insurance business as Grover Cleveland served from 1905 to 1908 with the Equitable Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Coolidge will be elected at the May meeting of the board. In making known the nomination Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the insurance company, made public Coolidge's letter of acceptance which read:

EAST HIGH NOTES

The spectators will have the opportunity of feasting their eyes on one of the most novel entertainments of the season when they attend the comedy musical revue to be presented by the East High School, Friday, April 12.

This revue promises to be the capstone of entertainments for East High School, this year.

The stage will be provided with a new back drop curtain to facilitate the performance, novel but gorgeous costumes, witty jokes, clever songs, ensemble choruses and short humorous acts will greet the eyes of spectators.

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Basimann's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

That empty, gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear; that anxious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath without discomfort. That drowsy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Bloating will cease. Your limbs, arms and fingers will no longer feel cold and "go to sleep" because Basimann's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. Get the genuine, in the yellow package, at any good drug store. Price 50c.

Always on hand at SAYRE'S DRUG STORE

MELO
WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER
10 cents
THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO.
Canton, Ohio
Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Bathing and Melo just go together

The man, woman or child who bathes and doesn't use Melo to soften the water doesn't know what they are missing. Melo softens hard water. It makes a delightfully sudsy bath. It doesn't let the water form a dirty ring around the tub. That's good news to women who scrub off the dirty ring! Water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. Melo saves soap, too, from 1/3 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap much more effective. Use it wherever you need soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

MELO
WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER
10 cents
THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO.
Canton, Ohio
Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO
WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER
10 cents
THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO.
Canton, Ohio
Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

Don't Forget The Children

like to play in sand. Order them a load of clean, washed sand from the

XENIA GRAVEL PLANT

Phone 1038

We can also furnish you with washed gravel and sand for concrete, pebbles and crushed chips for driveways.

TOP SOIL FOR THE LAWN

On your next Cement job insist on washed gravel and sand as it will give you a clean strong lasting job.

Call us for prices on deliveries. It will be a pleasure to quote you.

KIWANIS MEETS

The Kiwanis Club held its regular Tuesday evening meeting at the Elks' Club. A playlet was the feature of the evening. John Hejke, secretary of the alumni of DePaul University at Granville, who was to give the address of the evening was not present.

EAST END NEWS

A meeting of Iola Lodge, No. 617, Elks, will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the hall, Deputy George White, Springfield, will have charge of installation of new officers.

TWO INJURED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

Four occupants of a coupe, two boys and two girls, escaped serious injury when the car, driven by Lawrence Belt, 17, son of Walter Belt, near Alpha, skidded on the Dayton-Xenia Pike during a down-pour of rain and overturned about half a mile from Trebels at a sharp curve in the pike late Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Ruby Marshall, 17, daughter of Hugh Marshall, Alpha, who was being taken on an errand after school, sustained cuts on the right hand caused by flying glass. A

CAN'T PRAISE IT ENOUGH

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her So Much

Kingston, Mo.—"I have not taken anything but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for 18 months and I cannot praise it enough. I weighed about 100 pounds and was not able to do any kind of work. My housework was done by my mother and my out-of-doors work was not done. I have taken four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and now I am well and strong and feel fine. I got my sister-in-law to take it after her last baby came and she is stronger now. I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. HATTIE V. EASTIN, R. 1, Kingston, Missouri.

Write Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire free medical advice. Send 10c if you wish a trial package of Prescription Tablets.

"Look for LORECO"

"INSTANT TAKE-OFF!" with LORECO GASOLINE

Down the run-way—tail-skid off ground and wheels barely kissing the sod.

You can keep your feet on ground and your motoring speed flexible as air under Loreco power.

Quick on get-away, Loreco Gasoline lets your automobile lighten up and skim in the stretches.

Get out in front today with Loreco Gasoline, Loreco Ethyl Gasoline and Loreco Motor Oils.

LOUISIANA OIL REFINING CORPORATION
Producers Refiners Marketers

LORECO GASOLINE

Society-Personal-Clubs

THE NICEST courtesy you can show your guests is to have their visits mentioned on this page. The nicest courtesy you can show your friends is to let them learn of your visits through this page whenever you go away. The Gazette considers it a favor whenever you turn in an item of any kind. PHONE 70.

SPRING HILL P. T. A.

HEARS SUPERINTENDENT
Superintendent of Schools Louis Hamerle talked on "School Finances" at a meeting of the Spring Hill Parent-Teacher Association in the school auditorium, Monday afternoon.

Mr. Hamerle also urged that children be examined before entering school next fall. Mrs. Paul Turnbull was elected president of the organization for the coming year, at the election held at this meeting.

Mrs. Fred Schultz was elected vice-president, Mrs. Lynn Wilson, secretary, Mrs. Karl Buck, treasurer, and Miss Alta Turner, publicity secretary.

A short business meeting followed the program at which time it was decided to hold a covered dish supper at the school Friday, May 10 at 6:30.

Miss Evers' room gave a short health program at the beginning of the meeting.

ENTERTAIN AT FAREWELL PARTY

Mrs. James Siders entertained with three tables of 500, at her home on W. Second St., Saturday evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Powell, who are leaving Saturday, April 13 for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will make their future home. Mr. Powell will be employed by the Metropolitan Life Ins. Co.

A guest prize was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Powell while Mrs. C. A. Mitchell was awarded the high score prize.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hansell, Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Harner, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Powell and Mr. and Mrs. James Siders.

CEDAR CLIFF CHAPTER ENTERTAINED

Mrs. H. C. Aultman assisted by Mrs. P. P. Hastings was a delightful hostess to members of Cedar Cliff Chapter, D. A. R., Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting opened with a paper read by Mrs. Howard Turnbull on "National Defense." Reports were given by Mrs. Aultman, Mrs. J. S. West and Mrs. Irvin regarding the conference at Toledo.

Following a business session a business session was held at which time a committee was appointed to make plans to decorate the old soldiers graves in the Old Massies Creek Cemetery.

The hostess served a lovely salad course following the business hour.

The A. C. Turrell W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. Jeannette Anderson, 38 W. Market St., at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Members please be prepared to pay dues.

AFFLICTIONS OF YEARS FIND END IN NEW KONJOLA

Well Known Resident of Washington C. H., Relates His Remarkable Experience.

"I am seventy-eight, and the many people who know me here in my home town, know that for many years I was almost a helpless cripple as the result of rheumatism and other ailments," said Mr. Samuel Douglass, 555 Leesburg Ave., Washington C. H.

MR. SAMUEL DOUGLASS

"They know that I had to walk about on crutches, and they know that for weeks at a time I was confined to my bed, unable to be up and around. For fifteen years I suffered from this terrible affliction, which centered in my knees and lower limbs. Indigestion added to my misery; ailing kidneys got me up as many as eight times a night, and I was miserable all over and in every way.

"My attention was drawn to the many endorsements of Konjola. Could this medicine do me any good? Konjola surely went to the very root of my trouble. Just two bottles of this Konjola banished all my rheumatism, indigestion and kidney troubles. No wonder this Konjola is the most talked of medicine in America."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains 22 juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and run-down systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly endorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Gallaher drug store, and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section. Adv.

OBEDIENT COUNCIL

HOLDS CLASS INITIATION
The ritualistic work of the Daughters of America Lodge was beautifully demonstrated to a class of twenty candidates, consisting of sixteen women and four men, initiated into the Obedient Council, No. 160, D. of A. Tuesday evening at the Junior Order Hall. This large class initiation was witnessed by ninety members of the order, six councils being represented.

Mrs. Carrie Faulkner, past national councillor and Mrs. Myrtle Wood, state councillor, were present for the ceremony. Following the initiation, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the committee in charge.

MISS DAVIDSON

MARRIES IN FLORIDA
Xenia friends are interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Edith Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Davidson, Daytona, Fla., former Xenians to Mr. Harold Stevens of Daytona, which took place there Tuesday, April 2.

Mrs. Stevens was born in Xenia and attended Central High School here before she moved to Florida with her parents, where she finished her schooling. She has many friends here who received the interesting announcement of her marriage recently. Mr. Stevens is a U. S. customs officer at Daytona, where the young couple will make their home.

CURRENT EVENTS

CLUB ENTERTAINED
Mrs. Frank Keyes was a charming hostess to the "Current Events Club" at her home on Oxford Ave., Dayton, Tuesday afternoon. There were ten members present. Mrs. Carl Marshall read a paper on "Home and Housing" which was very well prepared.

Mrs. J. W. Santmyer was elected president of the organization for the coming year, Mrs. H. L. Sayre, vice-president and Mrs. Carl Marshall, secretary.

Following the business session the hostess served a lovely luncheon.

The W. R. C. will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the meeting room in the Coho House. There will be an election on president at this meeting and all members are urged to be present.

The Union Community Club will meet at the school, Friday evening. Each member is asked to bring a dime.

Mrs. Asa Price and two children, Pleasant St., and Mrs. L. E. Kurlis, near Xenia, spent the week-end in Columbus with Mrs. Price's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Whitehead. Mrs. Whitehead entered University Hospital, Friday, preparatory to undergoing a serious operation. Mr. Whitehead was discharged from Grant Hospital Friday where he had been confined for seven weeks, suffering from injuries to his feet, received in an accident.

Routine business is scheduled for transaction by City Commission at its bi-monthly meeting at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

Mrs. Margaret Bergen, Cincinnati Ave., was called to Cincinnati Saturday because of the serious illness of her son, Mr. Emmett Bergen.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Woman's Aid of the Cincinnati Division will meet Thursday at the club rooms on Eastern Ave., Cincinnati, for an all day meeting. Luncheon will be served at noon for a small fee. All members are urged to be present.

Mr. William Miller, student at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., is spending his spring vacation here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Miller, N. Detroit St.

Mrs. Hugh Smith, Bozeman, Mont., who has been visiting friends and relatives here for the past six weeks, will return to her home Thursday.

FOR YOUR ELECTRICAL WORK Call DUTCH HARNER Phone 1167 Nothing Too Large Or Too Small

YOU PAY LESS AT Kennedy's 39 West Main

SPECIAL This Week Only Hat Cleaned and blocked $1.00 DeMint's TOGGERY SHOP 15 Green St.

Miss Pauline Hald, New Haven, Conn., arrived in this city Monday morning to spend the week with Miss Mary Little, N. King St. She is to be one of the bridesmaids at Miss Little's wedding Saturday and was a classmate of Miss Little at Wellesley College.

Tommy Adair, small son of Mr. and Mrs. James Adair, N. King St., who has been ill for some time, is improving.

Mrs. William M. Wilson and Mrs. William McGervey will leave Thursday afternoon for Washington, D. C., where they will attend the National Congress of the D. A. R. April 15-20. Mrs. A. C. Messenger will leave Friday morning and will join them in Washington.

Mr. Lester Croft, for a number of years telephone operator for the Pennsylvania Railroad in Xenia and later Western Union operator at Cincinnati, is seriously ill at his home in Alpha with a complication of ailments.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lanus, Columbus have returned to their home after spending a few days with Mrs. Lanus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cross, W. Church St.

Mrs. Inez Armstrong of Yellow Springs conducted the annual inspection of the Elizabeth M. Hood Chapter, Eastern Star of Urbana Tuesday night. The ceremony was attended by 125 members and following the initiation the annual banquet was held.

McKinley School teachers were hostesses to a group of friends Tuesday evening when they entertained with a lovely dinner party at the school building. The school was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. Games and contests were enjoyed following the dinner.

Miss Edna Wright, W. Second St., entertained at her home Sunday, Misses Mary and Margaret Meeann, Dayton and Messrs. Robert Bonner and James Buckley, Columbus.

PRESBYTERY NAMES NEW MODERATOR

The Rev. W. H. Tilford and D. B. Watt spent Monday and Tuesday in Oxford where they attended the Presbytery meeting at Memorial Church.

The Rev. Ivan L. Wilkins, assistant pastor of the Covenant Church of Springfield was elected moderator for the coming six months. He succeeds the Rev. William Wilson.

Chaplain J. King Gibson, was re-elected to succeed himself as stated clerk of the Presbytery. He begins his thirty-seventh year in this service. He was also elected a delegate to the general assembly in Minneapolis, Minn., in May. The Rev. Daniel Myers was the other delegate elected to attend this meeting.

The Rev. Carl White, chairman evangelist, made a report on the state-wide campaign on evangelism to be held next fall.

SCOUT NEWS

Troop No. 41, Boy Scouts of America, will meet at the Scout cabin promptly at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. Each Scout is requested by Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury to bring a plate, cup, knife, fork and spoon.

CHICHESTERS PILLS THE DIAMOND BRAND. Ladies! Ask your Druggist for Chichesters' Diamond Brand Pills in Red and Gold Ribbon. Take no other. Buy only Chichesters' Diamond Brand Pills, for 46 years known as best, safest, reliable. Now New! SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.

See "The Romantic Age" One of the best comedies ever presented at the Central High School Auditorium April 11 and 12. 8:00 p. m.

FOR SALE One of nicest and most up-to-date 5 room Bungalows in the city, bath, electricity, hot and cold water, furnace and garage, on paved street, N. Detroit. Immediate possession. See Dr. A. C. Messenger

Don't Forget The Children like to play in sand. Order them a load of clean, washed sand from the XENIA GRAVEL PLANT Phone 1038 W. T. WROE.

We can also furnish you with washed gravel and sand for concrete, pebbles and crushed chips for driveways. TOP SOIL FOR THE LAWN On your next Cement job insist on washed gravel and sand as it will give you a clean strong lasting job. Call us for prices on deliveries. It will be a pleasure to quote you.

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

DELINQUENCY CHARGES AGAINST FOUR YOUTHS ARE DISMISSED

Delinquency complaints charging four Xenia youths with transporting two runaway girls, pupils of the O. S. and S. O. Home, from Xenia to Dayton last March 5, the date of their disappearance from the Home grounds, were dismissed by Juvenile Judge S. C. Wright at a hearing Wednesday morning.

Judge Wright took the viewpoint that while the boys undoubtedly did the wrong thing in "picking up" the girls and riding them to Dayton in their auto, the boys had never been in trouble before and readily admitted they were at fault. The boys did not recognize them from their dress as being inmates of the institution and did not learn that they were runaways until they had almost reached Dayton, they said.

The four youths, ranging in age from 13 to 17 years, were rounded up as a result of complaints filed against them by Alfred Heim, 215 Revere Ave., Dayton, father of Alice Heim, 15, one of the runaway pupils. The other girl, Audrey Kayser, 17, has not been located. The Heim girl was found in Cincinnati by her father.

The Heim girl is in the custody of her father and will not be readmitted to the Home here, it is said.

EX-PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO BE INSURANCE COMPANY DIRECTOR

NEW YORK, April 10.—Calvin Coolidge today accepted nomination as a member of the board of directors of the New York Life Insurance Company, to succeed the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

It is the first official connection outside of writing, that the former president has made since his retirement from office March 4. He is the second former president to be in the life insurance business as Grover Cleveland served from 1905 to 1908 with the Equitable Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Coolidge will be elected at the May meeting of the board.

In making known the nomination Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the insurance company, made public Coolidge's letter of acceptance which read:

EAST HIGH NOTES

The spectators will have the opportunity of feasting their eyes on one of the most novel entertainments of the season when they attend the comedy musical revue to be presented by the East High School, Friday, April 12.

This revue promises to be the capstone of entertainments for East High School, this year.

The stage will be provided with a new back drop curtain to facilitate the performance, novel but gorgeous costumes, witty jokes, clever solos, ensemble choruses and short humorous acts will greet the eyes of spectators.

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Basalman's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

That empty, gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear; that anxious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath without discomfort.

That drowsy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Bloating will cease. Your limbs, arms and fingers will no longer feel cold and "go to sleep" because Basalman's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. Get the genuine, in the yellow package at any good drug store. Price 25c.

Always on hand at SAYRE'S DRUG STORE

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. Bathing and Melo just go together

The man, woman or child who bathes and doesn't use Melo to soften the water doesn't know what they are missing. Melo softens hard water. It makes a delightfully sudsy bath. It doesn't let the water form a dirty ring around the tub. That's good news to women who scrub off the dirty ring.

Water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. Melo saves soap, too, from 1/3 to 1/2 the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap much more effective. Use it wherever you need soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

MELO WATER SOFTENED WITH MELO IS A REMARKABLE CLEANER 10 cents THE HYGIENIC PRODUCTS CO. Canton, Ohio Manufacturers of Sani-Flush

KIWANIS MEETS

The Kiwanis Club held its regular Tuesday evening meeting at the Elks' Club. A playlet was the feature of the evening. John Bjelke, secretary of the alumni of Denison University at Granville, who was to give the address of the evening was not present.

EAST END NEWS

A meeting of Iola Lodge, No. 617, Elks, will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the hall, Deputy George White, Springfield, will have charge of installation of new officers.

TWO INJURED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

Four occupants of a coupe, two boys and two girls, escaped serious injury when the car, driven by Lawrence Belt, 17, son of Walter Belt, near Alpha, skidded on a downpour of rain and overturned about half a mile from Trebeins at a sharp curve in the pike late Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Ruby Marshall, 17, daughter of Hugh Marshall, Alpha, who was being taken on an errand after school, sustained cuts on the right hand caused by flying glass. A

CAN'T PRAISE IT ENOUGH

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her So Much

Kingston, Mo.—"I have not taken anything but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for 18 months and I cannot praise it enough. I weighed about 100 pounds and was not able to do any kind of work. My housework was done by my mother and my out-of-door work was not done. I have taken four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and now I am well and strong and feel fine. I got my sister-in-law to take it after her last baby came and she is stronger now. I cannot praise it enough."—MRS. HATTIE V. EASTIN, R. 1, Kingston, Missouri.

are not pleasant if she is delicate, rundown, or overworked. She feels "played-out." Her smiles and good spirits have taken flight. It worries her husband as well as herself.

One woman says: "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been a great blessing to me. I attribute my better health to the use of this medicine. I cannot praise it too highly. I have two children living and would recommend the 'Prescription' for weakness and for the expectant mother."—Mrs. Hazel M. Canaday, 2429 Glen Road, Dayton, Ohio.

All dealers. Extra large bottles, liquid $1.25; Tablets $1.35 and 60c. Contains no harmful ingredients.

Write Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire free medical advice. Send 10c if you wish a trial package of Prescription Tablets.

piece of glass pierced the eye of her young brother, Wendell, 10, but the injury is not thought serious. A sister, Lillian, 10, escaped injury, as did the driver. The injuries of the two children were treated by Dr. George Anderson, Alpha. The auto was wrecked. The Belt boy and Miss Ruby Marshall are students of Beaver-creek High School.

WHAT? WHEN? WHERE? FIBRE SUITE GIVEN AWAY
Monday Night 9 p. m., April 15
BROWN'S
Xenia Branch
21 Green St.

PUBLIC COMBINATION SALE
At The Taylor Sale Barn At The West Corporation Line In Jamestown
Friday, April 12, 1929 at 12 m.
And Every Two Weeks Thereafter.
Consisting of Horses, Cattle, Sheep.
300 Head of Feeding Shoats.
Ranging from 50 to 150 lbs.
A reasonable rate of commission will be charged to anyone wishing to sell property in this sale.
Consignments made to
CARL TAYLOR
Jamestown Phone 46
THE JAMESTOWN SALE CO.

BEAUTIFY YOUR HOME WITH HANDSOME NEW DINING ROOM AND LIVING ROOM SUITES
COME DOWN—SEE OUR STOCK GET OUR LOW PRICES
A. Thornhill & Son
W. Third St., Between Detroit and King

"Look for LORECO"
"INSTANT TAKE-OFF!" with LORECO GASOLINE

Down the run-way—tail-skid off ground and wheels barely kissing the sod.
You can keep your feet on ground and your motoring speed flexible as air under Loreco power.
Quick on get-away, Loreco Gasoline lets your automobile lighten up and skim in the stretches.
Get out in front today with Loreco Gasoline, Loreco Ethyl Gasoline and Loreco Motor Oils.

LOUISIANA OIL REFINING CORPORATION
Producers Refiners Marketers

LORECO GASOLINE

EDITORIAL

NEWS COMMENT AND VIEWS

FEATURES

EDITORIAL

The Evening Gazette and The Morning Republican published daily except Sunday at the Gazette Building, South Detroit Street, Xenia, Ohio, by the Chew Publishing Company, Inc. Entered as second-class matter under act of March 3rd, 1879, at the Postoffice, Xenia, Ohio.

Members of "Ohio Select List" Daily Newspapers. Robert E. Ward Inc., Foreign Advertising Representative; Chicago Office, No. 5 South Wabash Avenue. New York Office, 501 Fifth Avenue.

NEW SUBSCRIPTION RATES	1 Mo.	3 Mo.	6 Mo.	1 Yr.
In Greene County	40	100	190	350
Zones 1 and 2	45	115	215	400
Zones 3, 4 and 5	50	120	240	450
Zones 6 and 7	55	145	265	500
Zone 8	60	160	290	550

By carrier in Xenia, 15 cents Per Week. Single Copy, Three Cents.

Business Office—111	TELEPHONE	Editorial Rooms—70
Advertising and Business Office	111
Circulation Department	800
Editorial Department	76

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

SIGNBROADS BILLBOARDS

In Massachusetts billboards may not be placed within 500 feet of the highway. Most other states have regulations for signboards of one kind or another. In all 41 states have laws governing these blights on the landscape. Motoring is now too much like running past a painted wall with the beautiful country cut out.

BLAME IT ON THE TWO BLACK CROWS

2-A McGill

Diet and Health

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D. AUTHOR OF "DIET AND HEALTH" AND "DIET FOR THE FUTURE"

False and Pernicious Information

Mr. W. wants to know my opinion about the following excerpts which he has taken from some literature distributed by a certain diet institute.

"Deafness is entirely due to nutrition... We grow deaf simply and solely because we are not receiving the food that we need. There is no other cause for deafness. If we do not receive our proper and natural food intended for our bodies, we grow deaf."

"Catarrh is a disease of nutrition. It comes from the condition of the blood as it is effected by the food. It is cured by changing the food. It is simply the name given to a disease of imperfect nutrition."

"Cancer is the result of imperfect nutrition. Isn't it reasonable to suppose that when the poisons are removed from the blood cancer will disappear?... The cause and cure of cancer are absolutely matters of nourishment. Food taken one way brings on a cancer, but used another way it cures a cancer. The whole secret of cancer lies in the food problem."

This information is false and it pernicious, and it is doubly pernicious in that the statements of the partial truth is that a deficient diet does lower the resistance so that all of the organs are more susceptible to attack by infectious germs; but wrong diet is not the only factor, by any means, that lowers resistance; nor, except in diseases which are known to be solely due to a deficiency in the diet—such as scurvy, rickets, pellagra—can the resumption of the right diet produce a cure, without other remedial measures.

How can wrong diet account for deafness caused by noise in boiler-makers, etc.? or the catarrhal conditions, where the mucous membranes are irritated by substances connected with the work, such as in certain industries? If wrong diet were the sole cause of deafness and catarrh, a very much larger percentage would be suffering from them.

The most pernicious of this advice is concerning cancer, for it may cause many deaths of sufferers, who are hoping for some diet to cure them when early surgical or other remedial measures might save them. We do not yet know the cause of cancer; except that certain types can be caused by chronic irritation such as cancer of the lip in smokers. It may be possible that some type will be found to be deficiency diseases, but there are undoubtedly other factors besides this. Cancers are parasitic and after they have started they continue to grow unless removed, no matter what the diet is, just as a tape worm contracted by eating infected meat will continue to grow and remain with you, no matter if you never get any more infected meat—unless other measures are used to oust it.

The head of this so-called institute evidently is a layman of no scientific education whatever, who has food ideas to sell.

B.—Operations on hemorrhoids if not very extensive, are frequently done in the surgeon's office under local anesthesia. The patient, after being taken home, has to remain quiet for a few days. If the hemorrhoids are very large or numerous, a hospital is, of course, the better place for the operation, for then, perhaps, a general anesthetic is given.

We have an article on Varicose Veins which tells you a little more about hemorrhoids, which are varicose veins of the rectum.

Tomorrow: Reducing by Exercise Alone.

U. S. TALKIES IN EUROPE

American and British producers of "talkies" are said to hold that the silent movie is as passe as the magic lantern or the stereopticon. They are also represented as looking to talking pictures to make English an universal language. There unanimity appears to end and difference to begin. What English is it to be? The tongue of Shakespeare as she is spoken in New York; or as she is heard in the streets of "dear old Lunnon?"

The question would seem to be of some importance to producers. American movies have enjoyed a large vogue in England. Will the "American accent" appeal to the English ear; or will it offend aural sensibilities attuned to native enunciation? Will it be necessary to import English actors to produce for the English market? This solution raises another question: Will the English accent prove more agreeable to American ears than the American accent does to English ears? The production of "talkies" for both the American and British market may have to be carried out on a 50-50 accent basis.

And what about the continental European, Asiatic and South American peoples? Gramophone records have long been made in Chinese for the Chinese custom. Will it be necessary to import Chinese "talkie" stars to give the proper "tone" to productions for export to China? Will special "talkies" be made for each of the European countries; or will Germans and Frenchmen and Italians have to sit through a lesson in English, when they merely seek an evening's entertainment at a neighborhood playhouse? The future of the "talkies" seems likely to be as argumentative as it is educational.

JAZZ AND THE MONKEY

A chimpanzee, only recently from the forests of Africa, broke his chains the other day when he heard a jazz orchestra for the first time. He just "went off his head" and began to throw dishes. In certain respects the principal difference between the chimpanzee and some humans is that the latter only thinks about doing things.

A SENSIBLE PRINCE

The Prince of Wales will make a real contribution to the comfort and happiness of his fellow men if he will make formal dress less formal and more comfortable. The other night the prince showed up at an evening affair with a double-breasted tuxedo, a soft shirt and a soft collar. The imperial tailors are horrified. More cheers for the prince if he can put it over.

SCOUTS

From time to time the papers carry little articles announcing that a Boy Scout here or a Boy Scout there has won the prize for doing something useful and practical. Boy Scouts are courteous and kind. The rest of us ought deeply to appreciate the men who give so much time to scout mastering and to building character and efficiency in youngsters. The next generation is going to be immensely influenced by the kind of scouts we have today.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Now that spring is here and summer not very far away, more and more women will be investing in the type of wave called "permanent." And very wisely, too. For during the warm, moist weather of summer, when naturally straight hair is usually inclined to be limp and dank (such ugly words, these), a permanent wave proves a genuine hair blessing. Both heat and dampness affect it as they do naturally curly hair, making it curlier, or wavier, than ever.

The term "permanent wave" is, of course, misleading, since no artificial wave is ever permanent. But the good, so-called "permanent" wave lasts usually for six to eight months, according to the type of hair to which it is given, which is longer than any other type of wave—except a natural one—lasts.

Contrary to many women's belief, the good permanent wave does not injure the hair, to any appreciable extent, if it is in a healthy condition and has proper "before" and "after" care. I know of women who have had at least ten permanent waves and whose hair is soft and lustrous, quite as healthy and normal as hair that has never been waved. Of course a great deal depends upon the type of permanent and upon the operator.

If you are thinking of "waving" be very sure, first, of two things—that your hair and scalp are in a healthy condition, and that you know of a skilled operator who can be trusted to do the work in a scientific, careful way. The hair should not be twisted in wrapping it around the little rods that are used to give the flat, and smoothly to insure a perfectly natural, smooth, flat wave. When it is twisted, a frizzy, irregular curl is the result.

Before you go to have your wave, prepare your hair for the event by giving it several, weekly or semi-weekly, hot-oil treatments, using sweet oil or olive oil or a specially prepared balsam oil. Part the hair into sections and massage the oil into the partings, thoroughly. Then brush the hair vigorously to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the tiny muscles at the roots of the hair. This treatment will nourish the scalp and prepare it for the heat of the waving process.

Hair should always be tested before waving to determine its health, texture and elasticity. Different types of hair require different methods and degrees of heat. Soft, elastic hair requires one solution to guarantee soft, loose waves. Coarser, less elastic hair requires a stronger solution to effect the same results. Thus the uncertainty which several years ago used to accompany the process has, to a great extent, been removed.

The fashionable wave for most hair is the wide, soft wave. It is natural-looking and flattering to nearly every type of face. The kinky, crisp curl is for only the youngest, most careless and carefree of bobbed heads. A youthful face can wear it with a certain gay chic and abandon, but the older woman finds it trying and harsh, ordinarily.

After you have had your permanent, continue to take proper care of your hair. Many operators will advise you not to brush, as brushing loosens the wave. But I warn you to brush and to brush frequently, using a little pomade on the scalp before brushing. This will nourish the hair and give it the gloss which the heat of a permanent may have removed temporarily. Also wash your hair less often after the wave, as that is apt to dry it. Or shampoos may be frequent, if oil treatments are used. Cleanse, when necessary, between shampoos with a good hair tonic and towel and brushing.

ters to him that they are better acquainted with than he is.

With foreign affairs he is far more familiar than Secretary Stimson. Seemingly the latter's job will be simply to obey orders.

The colonel is a peppy-appearing individual. He has an air of extraordinary vigor. When Chief Justice Taft swore him in he shouted "I do" in a tone that made the rafters ring. The impression he gave was that the words "I do" amounted to a very original utterance.

The new secretary is lean and extremely erect—solidly.

He smiles a fixed, mechanical smile, with no particular mirth in it.

He and retiring Secretary Kellogg, lined up alongside, presented a decided contrast.

Kellogg is very small and puckered-up. He looks his 70-odd years.

Stimson does not look his 60-odd. Without being especially tall, he makes the most of all the stature he does possess.

Kellogg is sentimental. He cried.

Stimson is the hard-boiled type—as if thumbscrews could not wring a tear out of him.

AMBASSADOR'S BUSINESS

It is rather difficult to understand why official Washington should get excited over the statement of Jose Gonzalo Escobar, Mexican rebel leader, that Ambassador Morrow is acting "as propagandist agent" for the Mexican government. Mr. Morrow is accredited by the government in Mexico City headed just now by President Portes Gil; and it is a regular part of his business to try to increase good relations between Washington and Mexico City and act in a generally friendly and helpful manner toward the regime in the latter city. Officially he knows nothing about Escobar and his outfit beyond the fact that they constitute a gang of bandit would-be revolutionists who under present policies and agreements would not be recognized by the United States even if they should succeed in getting control of the whole of Mexico. He is under no obligation whatever to pay attention to any pretended claims to consideration they may advance; and he needs no defense for attending to his business in the way an ambassador should.

Who's Who and Timely Views

REDUCED TARIFFS ADVOCATED

By ELMER THOMAS

Senator From Oklahoma.

(Elmer Thomas was born at Greencastle, Ind., September 8, 1876. He was graduated from Central Normal college, Danville, Ind., and DePaul university, Chicago, from 1901 to 1911. He is owner and operator of Medicine Park, Okla. From 1907 to 1920 he was a member of the Oklahoma state senate and was chairman of the Democratic state convention in 1910. He was a member of congress from the sixth Oklahoma district from 1923 to 1927, and was elected to the senate the last year.)

A stud yof world conditions and consideration of the part the United States now plays in world affairs, leads to the conclusion that this country has reached its "high tide" in protective tariff measures. In the future, the current of high protective rates will recede and lower schedules will be adopted.

The tariff question is now more than a personal, local, state, or even a national issue. It has, in the last decade, become an international problem. The existing schedules to be preserved or modified, and the new schedules to be made, will not only affect individuals, institutions, and localities in our own country, but, in addition, will affect directly and vitally, individuals, institutions and localities in many foreign lands, and it is this new phase of the tariff question that will confront, and probably embarrass the framers of the to-be "Hawley-Smoot Tariff Act of 1922."

In former days we could enact a tariff bill with our eyes focused upon our own citizens as residents upon our own soil. That time has now passed and future tariff bills must be prepared, considered and enacted into law with other peoples of the world looking on as interested spectators, at least. No tariff bill can be enacted today without keeping constantly in mind the many interests which will be directly affected. These interests may not all be American and in America.

When the coming session of the congress begins to actually write the new tariff bill, it will be found that a tariff law is being made not alone for the people of the United States, but for the hundreds of millions of peoples of the entire world. The United States is now generally regarded as the richest and most powerful and the most influential nation of the earth. Our material wealth approaches a total value of $400,000,000,000. This vast store of riches is not all in the United States but is invested throughout the world.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON. — "Please, Mr. Secretary, go through the motions of signing your name," said about two dozen newspaper photographers to Col. (another cabinet colonel) Henry L. Stimson the other day, following the colonel's swearing-in as head of the state department.

The new secretary obligingly picked up a pen and trailed it across a blotter, while the cameramen (movie and still) and picture-galleys of the operation. Cynical folk say it was a significant ceremony.

The impression in Washington is that President Hoover means to be "his own secretary of state." Even so, somebody else has to wear the title and "go through the motions."

Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, who stepped out as Colonel Stimson stepped in, had an official mind of his own.

He may have made mistakes but he was no rubber stamp.

He had opinions and policies. President Coolidge occasionally over-ruled him, but he acted on his individual initiative in the first place. For instance, he nearly got us into war with Mexico. The president stopped him at the last minute; nevertheless he did require stopping.

The other members of President Hoover's cabinet are specialists in their various lines of business.

Secretary of War Good and Postmaster General Brown supposedly were given their portfolios because they are more experienced politicians than Mr. Hoover himself and he needs them, to advise him.

The president not only asks Attorney General Mitchell to solve his legal problems for him, but does as Mitchell tells him to do.

Nobody understands financial technique like Secretary Mellon.

Secretary of the Navy Adams is a practical sailorman, and Secretary of Labor Davis carries a union card.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont is perhaps as able an engineer as his chief. Secretary of the Interior Wilbur's department deals, among other things, with education and Dr. Wilbur is one of the foremost educators in the world. Secretary of Agriculture Hyde may not know how to relieve the farmers; however, neither does Mr. Hoover. He says frankly that he is leaving that to congress.

All these cabinet members are in a position to make suggestions to the president—to explain mat-

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Kills Boy Rival for School-girl." This is a heading in a morning paper, and the article goes on to say that a young man shot a boy he saw walking with his schoolgirl sweetheart. Now there is a young life ended, learning broken, hearted mother and father, a girl whose life will always be shadowed by the tragedy for which she will feel she may have been to blame; and a promising young man headed for the gallows or life imprisonment with his parents more heart broken than the dead boy's.

My guess is that the college friend is not in a position to be very attentive until he finishes school. And the second boy may have been a bit "peevish" to see you with the other, but will get over it and return. He had no "strings on you" so to speak, so no apology is necessary. Just be as friendly as ever to both, and if the second one says anything about the first tell him the other boy is an old friend, and naturally you accepted his invitation when he was home from school.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a high school girl and not really homesick, although not good looking. Can you tell me why it is that when I meet a new girl friend at first she really likes me, and then, after a month or so I seem to become boring to her?"

"KITTL."

I can't tell you, dear, unless you really are boring. Are you? Are you interested in your friends and in their affairs, and do you try to be a good, understanding pal? If so, maybe the girls you choose for friends are the changeable sort and you had better select others that are true.

MAKE USE OF DANDELION GREENS FOR SALAD

COLD DANDELION SALAD

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe—Clean dandelions carefully and cook them with as little water as possible, seasoning with salt, and being careful not to cook them too long. Chill and serve them with this dressing: Rub a bowl with a clove of garlic, put in a half teaspoon salt and a little paprika and dissolve these in orange juice, using one tablespoon orange to each two of oil. Whip until creamy and serve.)

Suggestions

Grated cheese or creamed vegetable soups or on salads add valuable nutrients and variety to the diet.

LONESOME FOR ONE: Don't be impatient, my dear little girl. Plenty of time for special boy friends and time will solve your problem. Be a happy child while you can.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am in love with a fellow who attends college. He writes very seldom. When he was home for his vacation I was with him once. He treated me wonderfully. He says he 'likes me a lot.' What does he mean

Household Hints

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT BREAKFAST

Egg a la Goldenrod
Stewed Apples
Toast
Coffee
LUNCHEON
Tuna Fish Salad
Salted Crackers
Coffee Cake Delicious
Coffee
DINNER
Spanish Steak Cream Tiny Peas
French Fried Potatoes
Watercress Salad
Rhubarb Tapioca
Coffee Substitute

Only two people are fed by the quantities in the menu planned for today. Eggs a la goldenrod are made by hard cooking the eggs, making a white sauce and adding the chopped whites to it, then pouring the sauce over toast and sprinkling yolks on top.

Today's Recipes

Tuna Fish Salad—One can tuna fish, one cup tiny peas, one hard cooked egg, one-fourth cup diced celery, one tablespoon chopped pickle, mayonnaise, lettuce. Flake tuna fish with a fork. Add peas, chopped egg, celery and pickle. Add mayonnaise and serve on lettuce.

Coffee Cake Delicious—One and three-fourths cups sifted flour, one-half cup sugar, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. Sift above ingredients add one-half cup milk, one well-beaten egg and last, one-quarter cup melted butter. Beat well. Put in well-greased flat cake pan, pour over the top two tablespoons melted butter. Sprinkle over this two tablespoons sugar and one tablespoon cinnamon mixed together. Bake 20 to 25 minutes. Have oven good and hot until cake is raised, then lower the heat. It bakes easily. Serve hot, with plenty of butter.

Spanish Steak—Two pounds top round steak, two inches thick. Brown in hot frying pan, then add three-quarters cup boiling water, cover and bake 45 minutes in moderate oven. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover with layer sliced, seasoned onions. Bake another hour, then cover with layer of solid meat of a can of tomatoes. Bake 15 minutes. Sprinkle over top two tablespoons grated cheese. Place in oven long enough for cheese to melt.

LOW PRICES ARE DECEIVING. DAYTONS COST A LITTLE MORE BUT THE EXTRA MILES ARE THERE.

XENIA AUTO NECESSITY CO.

"TOM AND DICK—THE TIRE BOYS"

Phone 533 For Road Service.

People Who Know Use Eldred Motor Oils---

Because ELDRED OILS are refined exclusively from Bradford Amber, premium crude of the Pennsylvania Field. This means extra protection, extra mileage, AND NO EXTRA COST. ELDRED costs no more than "just oil," but what a difference in your motor's performance.

ELDRED is BEST by ANY TEST Try It.

Schmidt Oil Co.

ELDRED DISTRIBUTORS

222-224 S. Detroit St.
Xenia, Ohio

Permit 36

EDITORIAL

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

SIGNBOARDS BILLBOARDS
In Massachusetts billboards may not be placed within 500 feet of the highway. Most other states have regulations for signboards of one kind or another. In all, 41 states have laws governing these blights on the landscape. Motoring is now too much like running past a painted wall with the beautiful country cut out.

JAZZ AND THE MONKEY
A chimpanzee, only recently from the forests of Africa, broke his chains the other day when he heard a jazz orchestra for the first time. He just "went off his head" and began to throw dishes. In certain respects the principal difference between the chimpanzee and some humans is that the latter only thinks about doing things.

A SENSIBLE PRINCE
The Prince of Wales will make a real contribution to the comfort and happiness of his fellow men if he will make formal dress less formal and more comfortable. The other night the prince showed up at an evening affair with a double-breasted tuxedo, a soft shirt and a soft collar. The imperial tailors are horrified. More cheers for the prince if he can put it over.

SCOUTS
From time to time the papers carry little articles announcing that a Boy Scout here or a Boy Scout there has won the prize for doing something useful and practical. Boy Scouts are courteous and kind. The rest of us ought to give so much time to scout mastering and to building character and efficiency in youngsters. The next generation is going to be immensely influenced by the kind of scouts we have today.

LAW AND LIBERTY
When we come to understand that happiness does not mean going the limit in anything, but that happiness comes more surely by moderation in all things, we have begun to be a little wiser. Law is liberty—it brings greater happiness. Moderation is one of the great words of the world.

Who's Who in Timely Views

REDUCED TARIFFS ADVOCATED

By ELMER THOMAS
Senator From Oklahoma.
(Elmer Thomas was born at Greencastle, Ind., September 8, 1876. He was graduated from Central Normal college, Danville, Ind., and DePaul university, Chicago, Ill., in 1901. He was admitted to the bar in 1907. He practiced at Lawton, Okla., from 1901 to 1911. He is owner and operator of Medicine Park, Okla., from 1907 to 1920. He was a member of the Oklahoma state senate and was chairman of the Democratic state convention in 1910. He was a member of congress from 1923 to 1927, and was elected to the senate the last year.)

A stud yof world conditions and consideration of the part that the United States now plays in world affairs leads to the conclusion that this country has reached its "high tide" in protective tariff measures. In the future, the current of high protective rates will recede and lower schedules will be adopted.

The tariff question is now more than a personal issue. It has in the last decade become an international problem. The existing schedules to be preserved or modified, and the new schedules to be made, will not only affect individuals, institutions, and localities in our own country, but in addition, will affect directly and vitally, individuals, institutions and localities in many foreign lands. It is this new phase of the tariff question that will confront, and probably embarrass the framers of the to-be "Hawley-Smoot Tariff Act of 1929."

In former days we could enact a tariff bill with our eyes focused upon our own citizens as residents upon our own soil. That time has now passed and future tariff bills must be prepared, considered and enacted into law with other peoples of the world looking on as interested spectators. At least, no tariff bill can be enacted today without keeping constantly in mind the many interests which will be directly affected. These interests may not all be American and in America.

When the coming session of the congress begins to actually write the new tariff bill, it will be found that a tariff law is being made not alone for the people of the United States, but for the hundreds of millions of peoples of the entire world. The United States is now generally regarded as the richest and most powerful and the most influential nation of the earth. Our material wealth approaches a total value of $400,000,000,000. Its vast store of riches is not all in the United States but is invested throughout the world.

MAKE USE OF DANDELION GREENS FOR SALAD
COLD DANDELION SALAD

(Mrs. Marie—Clean dandelions carefully and cook them with as little water as possible, seasoning with salt and being careful not to cook them too long. Chill and serve them with this dressing: Rub a bowl with a clove of garlic, put in a half teaspoon salt and a little paprika and dissolve these in orange juice, using one tablespoon orange to each two of oil. Whip until creamy and serve.

Suggestions
Grated cheese on creamed vegetable soups or on salads adds valuable nutrients and variety to the diet.

NEWS COMMENT AND VIEWS

BLAME IT ON THE TWO BLACK CROWS

How to Achieve Beauty

BY NINA HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Now that spring is here and summer not very far away, more and more women will be investing in the type of wave called "permanent." And very wisely, too. For during the warm, moist weather of summer, when nature's straight hair is usually inclined to be limp and dank (such ugly waves, these), a permanent wave proves a genuine hair blessing. Both heat and dampness affect it as they do naturally curly hair, making it curlier, or wavier, than ever.

The term "permanent wave" is, of course, misleading, since no artificial wave is ever permanent. But the good, so-called "permanent" wave lasts usually for six to eight months, according to the type of hair to which it is given, which is longer than any other type of wave—except a natural one—lasts.

Contrary to many women's belief, the good permanent wave does not injure the hair, to any appreciable extent, if it is in a healthy condition and has proper "before" and "after" care. The kind of woman who has had at least ten permanent waves and whose hair is soft and lustrous, quite as healthy and normal as the hair that has never been waved, or of course a great deal depends upon the type of permanent and upon the operator.

If you are thinking of "waving" be very sure, first, of two things—that your hair and scalp are in a healthy condition, and that you know of a skilled operator who can be trusted to do the work in a scientific, careful way. The hair should not be twisted in wrapping it around the little rods that are used to give the flatly and smoothly to insure a perfectly natural, smooth, flat wave. When it is twisted, a frizzy, irregular curl is the result. Before you go to have your wave, prepare your hair for the event by giving it several weeks of semi-permanent, hot-oil treatments, using sweet oil or olive oil or a specially prepared balsam oil. Part the hair into sections and massage the oil into the partings, thoroughly. Then brush the hair vigorously to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the tiny muscles at the roots of the hair. This treatment will nourish the scalp and prepare it for the heat of the waving process.

Hair should always be tested before waving to determine its health, texture and elasticity. Different types of hair require different methods and degrees of heat. Soft, elastic hair requires one solution to guarantee soft, loose waves. Coarser, less elastic hair requires a stronger solution to effect the same results. Thus the uncertainty which several years ago used to accompany the process has, to a great extent, been removed.

The fashionable wave for most hair is the wide, soft wave. It is natural-looking and flattering to nearly every type of face. The kinky, crisp curl is for only the youngest, most careless and careless of bobbed heads. A youthful face can wear it with a certain gay chic and abandon, but the older woman finds it trying and harsh, ordinarily.

After you have had your permanent, continue to take proper care of your hair. Many operators will advise you not to brush, as brushing loosens the wave. But I warn you to brush and to brush frequently, using a little pomade on the scalp before brushing. This will nourish the hair and give it the gloss which the heat of a permanent may have removed temporarily. Also wash your hair less often after the wave, as that is apt to dry it. Or shampoos may be frequent, if oil treatments are used. Cleanse, when necessary, between shampoos with a good hair tonic and towel and brush.

Behind the Scenes in Washington
By CHARLES P. STEWART
WASHINGTON. — "Please, Mr. Secretary, go through the motions of signing your name," said two dozen newspaper photographers to Col. (another cabinet colonel) Henry L. Stimson the other day, following the colonel's swearing-in as head of the state department.
The new secretary obligingly picked up a pen and trailed it across a blotter, while the cameramen (movie and still) shot pictures galore of the operation. Cynical folk say it was a significant ceremony.
The impression in Washington is that President Hoover means to be "his own secretary of state." Even so, somebody else has to wear the title and "go through the motions."
Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, who stepped out as Colonel Stimson stepped in, had an official mind of his own.
He may have made mistakes but he was no rubber stamp.
He had opinions and policies. President Coolidge occasionally over-ruled him, but he acted on his individual initiative in the first place. For instance, he nearly got us into war with Mexico. The president stopped him at the last minute, nevertheless he did require stopping.

ters to him that they are better acquainted with than he is. With foreign affairs he is far more familiar than Secretary Stimson. Seemingly the latter's job will be simply to obey orders.

The colonel is a peppy-appearing individual. He has an air of extraordinary vigor. When Chief Justice Taft swore him in he shouted "I do" in a tone that made the rafters ring. The impression he gave was that the words "I do" amounted to a very original utterance.

The new secretary is lean and extremely erect—solidly. He smiles a fixed, mechanical smile, with no particular mirth in it.

He and retiring Secretary Kellogg, lined up alongside, presented a decided contrast. Kellogg is very small and pucker-eyed. He looks his 70-odd years. Stimson does not look his 60-odd. Without being especially tall, he makes the most of all the stature he does possess.

Kellogg is sentimental. He cried. Stimson is the hard-boiled type—as if thumbscrews could not wring a tear out of him.

Household Hints

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Breakfast
Egg a la Goldenrod Toast
Stewed Apprets Coffee
Luncheon
Tuna Fish Salad
Salted Crackers
Coffee Cake Delicious

DINNER

Spanish Steak Cream Potato Peas
French Fried Potatoes
Watercress Salad
Rhubarb Tapioca
Coffee Substitute
Only two people are fed by the quantities in the menu planned for today. Eggs a la goldenrod are made by hard cooking the eggs, making a white sauce and adding the chopped whites to it, then pouring the sauce over toast and sprinkling yolks on top.

Today's Recipes

Tuna Fish Salad—One can tuna fish, one cup tiny peas, one hard cooked egg, one-fourth cup diced celery, one tablespoon chopped pickle, mayonnaise, lettuce. Flake tuna fish with a fork. Add peas, chopped egg, celery and pickle. Add mayonnaise and serve on lettuce.

Coffee Cake Delicious—One and three-fourths cups sifted flour, one-half cup sugar, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. Sift above ingredients add one-half cup milk, one well-beaten egg and last, one-quarter cup melted butter. Beat well. Put in well-greased flat cake pan, pour over the top two tablespoons melted butter. Sprinkle over this two tablespoons sugar and one tablespoon cinnamon mixed together. Bake 20 to 25 minutes. Have oven good and hot until cake is raised, then lower the heat. It bums easily. Serve hot, with plenty of butter.

Spanish Steak—Two pounds top round steak, two inches thick. Brown in hot frying pan, then add three-quarters cup boiling water, cover and bake 45 minutes in moderate oven. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover with layer of solid meat of a can of tomatoes. Bake 15 minutes. Sprinkle over top two tablespoons grated cheese. Place in oven long enough for cheese to melt.

FEATURES

Diet and Health

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D. AUTHOR OF "DIET AND HEALTH" AND "DIET FOR THE FUTURE"

False and Pernicious Information
Mr. W. Walter to know my opinion about the following excerpts which he has taken from some literature distributed by a certain diet institute.

"Deafness is entirely due to nutrition... We grow deaf simply and solely because we are not receiving the food that we need. There is no other cause for deafness. If we do not receive our proper and natural food intended for our bodies, we grow deaf."
"Catarrh is a disease of nutrition. It comes from the condition of the blood as it is effected by the food. It is cured by changing the food. It is simply the name given to a disease of imperfect nutrition."
"Cancer is the result of imperfect nutrition. Isn't it remarkable to suppose that when the blood cancer will disappear?... The cause and cure of cancer are absolutely matters of nourishment. Food taken one way brings on a cancer, but used another way it cures a cancer. The whole secret of cancer lies in the food problem."

This information is false and it pernicious, and it is doubly pernicious in the statements. The partial truth is that a deficient diet does lower the resistance so that all of the organs are more susceptible to attack by infectious germs; but wrong diet is not the only factor, by any means, that lowers resistance; nor, except in diseases which are known to be caused by a deficiency in the diet—such as scurvy, rickets, pellagra—can the resumption of the right diet produce a cure, without other remedial measures.
How can wrong diet cause in boiler-makers, etc.? or the catarrhal conditions, where the mucous membranes are irritated by substances connected with the work, such as in certain industries? If wrong diet were the sole cause of deafness and catarrh, a very much larger percentage would be suffering from them.

The most pernicious of this advice is concerning cancer, for it may cause many deaths of sufferers, who are hoping for some diet to cure them when early surgical or other remedial measures might save them. We do not yet know the cause of cancer; except that certain types can be caused by chronic irritation such as cancer of the lip in smokers. It may be possible that some type will be found to be deficiency diseases, but there are undoubtedly other factors besides this. Cancers are parasitic and after they have started they continue to grow unless removed, no matter what the diet is, just as a tape worm contracted by eating infected meat will continue to grow and remain with you, no matter if you never get any more infected meat—unless other measures are used to oust it.

The head of this so-called institute evidently is a layman of no scientific education whatever, who has food ideas to sell.

Operations on hemorrhoids
If not very extensive, are frequently done in the surgeon's office under local anesthesia. The patient, after being taken home, has to remain quiet for a few days. If the hemorrhoids are very large or numerous, a hospital is of course the better place for the operation, for then, perhaps, a general anesthetic is given.

We have an article on Varicose Veins which tells you a little more about hemorrhoids, which are varicose veins of the rectum.

Tomorrow: Reducing by Exercise Alone.

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

GEESSE PASS A SLEEPLESS NIGHT

Peter knew very well how provoked the barnyard folks would be to be waked right out of a sound sleep. He didn't blame them, either. It must be horrid to have to be waked right out of a sound sleep. He didn't blame them, either. It must be horrid to have to be waked right out of a sound sleep.

"That you, Gander?" whispered he. "Has anything gone wrong? What are you up for at this time of night?"

"Yes, it's I, all right!" replied Gander, in a sad voice. "And I am awake for the very best reason in the world. I can't sleep! Neither could you, if you were a goose. There isn't one of my family who is spending a comfortable night. Can't you hear the other geese stirring about?"

"Now that you speak of it, I do hear something strange," said the boy, after he had listened a moment. "Sounds to me like the flapping of wings. Gracious! What was that? Could it have been a scream? Is any one hurt, do you suppose?"

Suddenly, to the boy's surprise, the barnyard was in an uproar. "Honk! Honk! Flap! Flap! Whisk! Whisk!" just as quickly as it had started the noise stopped. In another minute one could almost have heard a pin drop.

"There," remarked Papa Gander, stretching out his neck, "I feel better, and so do all the rest of my family. Now, if nothing more happens, we shall be able to go back to bed and sleep."

Next: "Moon Magic and Flight Fever."

LOW PRICES ARE DECEIVING.
DAYTONS COST A LITTLE MORE
BUT THE EXTRA MILES ARE THERE.

XENIA AUTO NECESSITY CO.
"TOM AND DICK—THE TIRE BOYS"
Phone 533 For Road Service.

People Who Know Use Eldred Motor Oils---

Because ELDRED OILS are refined exclusively from Bradford Amber, premium crude of the Pennsylvania Field. This means extra protection, extra mileage, AND NO EXTRA COST. ELDRED costs no more than "just oil," but what a difference in your motor's performance.

ELDRED is BEST by ANY TEST Try It.

Schmidt Oil Co.
ELDRED DISTRIBUTORS
222-224 S. Detroit St.
Xenia, Ohio
Permit 36

Geese .....	18c
Old Roosters, per lb. ....	14c
1929 Fries, pound .....	40c

(By Miami Valley Co-operative Milk Producers Ass'n)

Young Roosters .....	20c
Old Roosters .....	13c
Leghorn Roosters .....	8c

---

CUTS and SCRATCHES

Stop the smarting and hasten the healing by prompt application of

Resinol

---

VIS

Port Expert

of a member of ted foot author-sufferers will be nt of any kind—

nder heels, swollen arches—take w to get immedi-charge for this

CORNS

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads for corns give instant relief—remove the cause—friction and pressure of shoes. Thin, soft, smooth leather.

sure. $5c box.

WINNING is to
OVERCOME
THE
CHALLENGER

EASY TO OWN

own streets Essex the Challenger's competent observation, averaged 25 miles per gallon. The average owner of a city car can expect 18 to 20 miles and a highway car 25 to 30 miles per gallon. Hundreds of records all over the country during "Challenger Week" prove the economy. Commercial users operating large fleets of Essex cars say that service and maintenance costs, covering miles per gallon of operation, are lowest of any car they ever tested.

Essex's price class. It challenges the roomy comfort of any car in its price class. You back so much for every dollar you pay. Swing is to Essex. That is why Essex is our past favorites, and traditionally the Challenger gives.

Essex of Colors at No Extra Cost

"Fine" and air-cleaners are standard on Essex. They do not cost you one cent.

GLARE-PROOF rear-view mirror, safety lock, starter and electric gauge for fuel and oil on dash. Bright parts are chromium-plated.

for shutters THE ESSEX.
WE. CO.
TN

Gazette Classified Ads Get Quick Results

Classified Advertising THE GAZETTE IS THE MEDIUM

through which the general public can always have its wants supplied.

THE GAZETTE will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of an advertisement. Notice of errors, typographical or otherwise, must be given in time for correction before next insertion.

Advertisements are restricted to proper classification style and type. THE GAZETTE reserves the right to edit or reject any advertisement.

Closing time for classified advertising for publication the same day is 9:30 a. m.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

- 1 Card of Thanks.
- 2 In Memoriam.
- 3 Florists; Monuments.
- 4 Lost and Found.
- 5 Notices, Meetings.
- 6 Personal.
- 7 Lost and Found.

BUSINESS CARDS

- 8 Cleaning, Pressing, Laundering.
- 9 Dressmaking, Millinery.
- 10 Beauty Culture.
- 11 Professional Services.
- 12 Roofing, Plumbing, Heating.
- 13 Electricians, Wiring.
- 14 Building, Contracting.
- 15 Painting, Papering.
- 16 Repairing, Refinishing.
- 17 Commercial Hauling, Storage.

EMPLOYMENT

- 18 Help Wanted—Male.
- 19 Help Wanted—Female.
- 20 Help Wanted—Male or Female.
- 21 Help Wanted—Agents, Salesmen.
- 22 Situations Wanted.
- 23 Help Wanted—Instruction.

LIVE STOCK—POULTRY—PETS

- 24 Dogs—Canaries—Pets.
- 25 Poultry—Eggs—Supplies.
- 26 Horses—Cattle—Hogs.

MISCELLANEOUS

- 27 Wanted to Buy.
- 28 Miscellaneous For Sale.
- 29 Musical Instruments—Radio.
- 30 Household Goods.
- 31 Wearing Apparel—Shoes.
- 32 Groceries—Meats.

RENTALS

- 33 Where To Eat.
- 34 Rooms—With Board.
- 35 Rooms For Rent—Furnished.
- 36 Rooms For Rent—Unfurnished.
- 37 Houses—Plots—Unfurnished.
- 38 Houses—Plots—Furnished.
- 39 Office and Desk Rooms.
- 40 Miscellaneous For Rent.

REAL ESTATE

- 41 Wanted to Rent.
- 42 Houses For Sale.
- 43 Lots For Sale.
- 44 Real Estate For Exchange.
- 45 Farms For Sale.
- 46 Business Opportunities.
- 47 Wanted Real Estate.
- 48 Automobile Insurance.
- 49 Auto Laundries—Painting.
- 50 Tires—Tubes—Batteries.
- 51 Parts—Service—Repairing.
- 52 Motorcycle—Bicycles.
- 53 Auto Agencies.
- 54 Used Cars For Sale.
- 55 Auctioneers.
- 56 Auction Sales.

3 Florists, Monuments

NURSERY STOCK—Fruit and ornamental trees, shrubs and Perennials. R. O. Douglas, Phone 549-W. Cor. Washington and Monroe Sts.

7 Lost and Found

LOST—Necklace on streets last Friday. Finder please leave at Gazette Office.

9 Dressmaking, Millinery

WANTED—Washing and ironing—306 Hill Street or phone 359-W.

12 Roofing, Plumbing

PIPES—Valves and fittings for all purposes. Bocklet's line of plumbing and heating supplies are the best. The Bocklet-King Co. 415 W. Main St.

17 Commercial Hauling

HAULING DAILY, Dayton to Xenia. Xenia to Dayton. House to house delivery. Jesse E. Gilbert.

19 Help Wanted—Female

WANTED—Experienced waitress. Apply at American Restaurant, W. Main St.

25 Poultry—Eggs—Supplies

TOWNSLEY HATCHERY will custom hatch your eggs in the modern, fumigated incubators. Better and cheaper than you can get your incubator or hens. No charge for custom hatching if you are not satisfied. Phone 129.

FRATT'S Baby Chick Food, Simplex Brooders, Glass Cloth, Colloglass, Poultry Supplies, Babb Hardware Store.

BABY CHICKS HATCHED every Monday and Thursday. Xenia Chick Hatchery, S. Whiteman St. Phone 475-B.

FOR SALE—Mammoth Bronze Turkey eggs. Mrs. Wm. E. Atkinson. Phone 82-F-13.

FOR SALE—Brooder stoves, feeders and waterers at half price. Mrs. W. C. Zell, Phone 356-W.

BRONZE TURKEY EGGS. White Pekin duck eggs. Myrtle McHenry, Phone Bellbrook 6-K-1.

BOARD AND ROOM for your baby chicks. Modern conveniences, good food. Rates .05 cents per week. Make your reservations now. Townsley Hatchery, Xenia, Ohio. Phone 129.

MONEY TO LOAN ON EASY PAYMENTS

On any kind of security you have to offer—HOUSEHOLD GOODS, LIVESTOCK or AUTOMOBILES.

AMERICAN LOAN CO.
Steele Bldg. Terms 4 Mo. To 4 Yrs

26 Horses—Cattle—Hogs

HAMPSHIRE BOARS—Ready to service; also Certified seed corn. O. A. Dobbins, Cedarville.

27 Wanted to Buy

WANTED TO BUY—WOOL. Call D. A. DeWine, Phone 1228-R.

28 Miscellaneous For Sale

FOR SALE—Long Eakin Pop Corn. Crispette outfit, new. A money maker. Add. C. E. Harnisch, Spring Valley.

6 TON of mixed hay for sale. Ph. 4-K. Spring Valley, Ohio. Grover Craig.

GET YOUR seed potatoes, all varieties; also seed sweet potatoes. Lowest prices. Abe Hyman.

29 Musical—Radio

PIANOS FOR SALE—$5.00 monthly. John Harbaine, Allen Building.

35 Rooms—Furnished

2 ROOMS furnished for light house-keeping, with modern conveniences. 101 E. 2nd. Phone 375-R.

35 Rooms—Furnished

LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING rooms with bath and use of phone. Also sleeping room. Phone 360-M.

FOR RENT—3 room furnished Apt. modern, Cor. S. Detroit and Roger St. Phone 1128-R.

37 Houses—Unfurnished

FOR RENT—Two houses, twelve rooms, bath, $25.00. Four rooms, $12.00. John Harbaine, Allen Bldg.

TWO—6 room houses, newly decorated throughout, both kinds of water, electricity, on paved road and traction, six miles out. Screened-in porches and plenty garden, good school, reasonable rent. Inquire Hunt's Broom Factory or Geo. Armstrong, Goes, Ohio.

FOR RENT—1 room house, 516 W. 2nd St., $18.00 a month. Call at 516 W. Second.

46 Business Opportunities

CHATELAIN LOANS. Notes Bought. Second Mortgages. John Harbaine, Allen Building.

Jamestown News

ENTERTAINING SOCIETY

Mrs. Anna McMill and Mrs. Russell Bowers were hostesses to the Women's Missionary Society of the U. P. Church at the home of the former, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred L. Nelson conducted the devotionals. Miss Della McCann had charge of the program and was assisted by Mrs. Bowers and the Misses Myrtle Mackey and Katherine Darling.

The annual report of the different departments of work was given, it being the first meeting of the society for the fiscal year. The officers-elect stood in a circle with bowed heads, while Miss Darling offered the consecration prayer. The officers for the year are: president, Miss Margaret Lackey; secretary, Miss Della McCann; treasurer, Mrs. P. W. Ogan; association secretary, Mrs. J. H. Stitt; thank offering secretary, Mrs. L. L. Kratz; temperance secretary, Mrs. E. Klontz; literature secretary, Mrs. Russell Bowers; junior secretary, Miss Martha Dean. The hostess served a delicious salad course at the close of the program.

Rev. L. D. Vesey of the M. E. Church has arranged a series of church night meetings beginning Wednesday, April 10th and closing June 12th. It is planned to have classes for all ages and interesting subjects for each class, with teachers to present the same. There will also be business sessions for the official and Sunday School boards and Epworth League. The work has been carefully planned and can not fail to be interesting and profitable.

A Jamestown civic orchestra was recently organized by a group of young people. Miss Leontine Jenkins is the director. The orchestra is composed of Misses Lela Thurman, Leah Glass, Eleanor Corra, Leah Reeder, Martha Ann Baughn, Messrs. Max Jenks, Brooks Reeder, Dwight Correll, Ernest Geary and Grover Tobin. The organization will furnish music for any civic entertainments, including class plays and commencements.

The W. F. M. C. of the M. E. Church will hold a market in the corner room of the opera house, Saturday, April 13, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

The senior class of the Jamestown High School presented "Apple Blossom Time" at the opera house, Friday night. A capacity house showed its appreciation of the performance.

The Jamestown P. T. A. sponsored a band concert, Tuesday evening. The concert was Mr. C. H. Bohel of Leesbrook Centralized School. The band consisted of forty pieces and presented a splendid program.

The regular meeting Thursday night. After routine business a class of seven was initiated in the class and second degree, by a team of young people. A social time was enjoyed.

Mr. George Sanders has disposed of "The Variety Store" to Mr. William Ary of New Burlington, who took immediate possession of the same. Mr. Ary and family will occupy the property of Mrs. Belle Brickle, W. Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas and Mr. John Thomas, Wilmington were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thomas.

Miss Maude Aletha Bolen entertained the "Diggers Class" of the Friends' Church, Thursday evening. Some time was given to the study of "dramatic art" after which a social time was enjoyed, the hostess serving a refreshment course.

Mrs. Jessah Cusheva is supplying in the local school for Miss Catherine Shickley who is ill at her home, W. Xenia St.

Mrs. H. C. Lince spent Thursday and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Manville Smith, Springfield.

Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Louise Reitzel, and Mrs. Jennie Lince were visitors in Washington C. H., Friday.

Mrs. Charles Houser spent the week end with relatives at Frankfort.

Mr. Warren Collette was a business visitor in Columbus, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glass and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Otto Thorpe, Columbus. Mrs. H. D. Buckles, who has been a visitor in the Thorpe home, returned with them.

Mrs. A. G. Carpenter is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Penfield, Dayton, who has just returned from a sojourn of several months in Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Barnes were recent visitors in Dayton.

Mr. Jerry Toland and Mr. Auburn Thomas, Springfield, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, small son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thompson, is recovering from a serious attack of croup.

Dr. W. O. Bowers, Spring Valley, was a Jamestown visitor, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson have closed their home S. Lime-stone St. and will spend the summer on their farm, near Center.

Misses Myrtle and Margaret Lackey attended the interment of Mrs. A. F. Hughes, Dayton Thursday morning in Woodland Cemetery, Xenia.

A much enjoyed surprise was arranged by Mrs. Elizabeth Parker and Mrs. John Johnson of Cedarville, for Mrs. R. D. Bryan and Mr. Johnson, Sunday, at the home of Mrs. Parker. Friends from Columbus, Dayton, Cedarville and Jamestown were present to celebrate the birthday anniversaries.

Mr. R. L. Watson and Masters Frederick and Robert Hook of Xenia, were recent visitors of Mr. Macey Xenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Vogel and Master Jack Vogel were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Black.

Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davis, Messrs. Warren Robinson, Doris Cummings, Florence and Dora Fields, Jesse Leveck and Ollie Spahr spent Sunday at Russell's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Shepley, Springfield, visited over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Willis Glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis and Miss Grace Fudge were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John Doster.

Misses Elizabeth Preusch, Gladys Glenn and Flo Hughes spent Saturday in Dayton.

Mrs. Della S. Wilson, 80, wife of Cassius M. Wilson, died at her home in Piqua, Tuesday at 12:45 o'clock.

She is survived by her husband, one son, Cassius, Jr., and one grandson.

Funeral services will be held at the residence Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock and at 3 o'clock at the Fairfield Cemetery with burial in Fairfield Cemetery.

UNDERGROUND

BY J. JEFFERSON FARJEON

Copyright, 1929, by Central Press Association, Inc.

THREE ROMANTIC YOUTHS AND TWO LOVELY HEROINES DISCOVER THE SECRET OF THE WEIRD NOISES COMING FROM UNDERGROUND THE HAUNTED HOUSE.

CHAPTER I

You would not think there was much connection between a clerk eating a poached egg on toast in a King's Cross restaurant, and an out-of-work laborer munching bread and cheese in an empty house in Northumberland; particularly when the laborer had barely heard of King's Cross, and the clerk had never heard of Byford Moor, and they had certainly never heard of each other. But Mr. Smith, who is now one with Mrs. Smith, was once enjoying pickles in Margate while she was chasing a goat in Canada, and probably you, yourself, can trace some great friendship—or enmity—to a strange, unpremeditated movement. You will be exceptional if you cannot.

The strange, unpremeditated movement of the clerk will shortly be revealed, together with the amazing journey that followed it and bore him into romance beyond his most daring dreams. For all clerks have daring dreams. First, how, over, let us take a look at the out-of-work laborer in the empty house at Byford Moor, since he, too, was on the verge of a Great Moment, totally different from that which galvanized the clerk at King's Cross, and totally wedded to it.

The laborer's name was Ted. He was tall and thin, and, in his prime, tolerably strong. He was not in his prime at the moment, could get it, for the moment, rather depressingly long time. Baths were events. They interested him theoretically. Had the bathroom cult developed earlier in his life—he wasn't far off fifty—his later-life might have been clearer. As it was, he found himself drifting downwards a little towards the solations of existence—drinking, sleeping, work (when he could get it) for the sake of these things, and an occasional movie.

Now he sat eating bread and cheese in a neglected lounge-hall into which he had illegally climbed through a window. The weather had been a little squally, and since the house had been obviously empty, who would worry if he sought the protection of its roof? Nobody.

So he had climbed in, while the sudden rain blew in from the North Sea, and made an angry patter against the windows. And he had found the roof he had sought more comforting than he had imagined, although he had suddenly shivered the moment after dropping onto the ground. Being wet, like, and 'unhappy like, he rather faded. These was a small faded, set placed conveniently near the fireplace. Of course, there was no fire. In the first place, it wasn't winter, and, in the second, the house was empty. The emptiness of the house was a further advertisement in its favor.

Still, that particular point had to be established beyond the shadow of a doubt before bread and cheese and 'praps a pipe, could be contentedly enjoyed. Ted took no chances. He opened all the doors on the ground floor and called "Oi!" through them. He called "Oi!" down the stairs, and again up the stairs. Only the echoes answered him. If he wasn't particularly keen on the echoes, at any other time they were preferable to any other form of answer.

"Oi!" he called, for the last time, to the empty, generally. "Oi!" answered the echoes. "Good enuff!" murmured Ted. And, sinking luxuriously into the most comfortable armchair he could find, he produced the rich treasures of his pockets.

The rain increased in violence. Each window pane rattled with the miniature war. Ted shivered a second time. It was a cold rain. But it would soon be over. His eyes traveled across the rather faded carpet to the wall opposite, and came to rest on a grandfather clock. The grandfather clock was silent. "It's stopped," thought Ted, obviously; then added to himself, more intelligently, "Like me." Vaguely, his eyes roamed farther, and came to rest on a second time on a door.

"Allo—I didn't see that one," he reflected, frowning. And the journey of a particularly nice chunk of cheese from his fingers to his face was postponed. He rose, still holding the cheese, and crossed to the door. He took hold of the handle, and turned it. The door did not open.

He pulled it hard, and pushed it hard. No good. It was locked. All he could do was to fall back upon his stock device, "Oi!" This time there wasn't even an echo.

Ted returned to his armchair thoughtfully. He was not seriously disturbed. All the same, a tiny grain of comfort was dissipated by that locked door. Locked doors are all right when you have locked them yourself. There is always something sinister about them when somebody else has turned the key.

The delayed chunk of cheese completed its journey. Other similar journeys followed. The rain continued to rattle on the windows, the wind blew fitfully, and the faint boom of the broom sounded occasionally in the distance. When the bread and cheese had all gone, Ted fingered his old pipe, and tried to be constructive in his thoughts, to offset the languorous indolence that was settling upon him. Perhaps ease induces this reaction. Many a man has set the thought of a hot bath. So Ted thought of Newcastle, to which he was trudging, and wondered whether he would find a job there, and if not, what to do about it, while the elements wrangled outside, and he drew nearer and nearer to his Moment.

And while a clerk ladled up a refractory portion of a poached egg three hundred miles away.

Suddenly an odd thought came into Ted's mind. He did not know how it came, or why.

"Suppose they are breakers?" he wondered.

He did not trouble to proceed with the inquiry. It bore no special significance. Boom! Boom! Probably they were breakers. What did it matter, anyway? It mattered much more to get his pipe to pull properly, and to sink into the comfort of the chair.

Looks as if I'm 'ere for keeps," he murmured present, discovering with interest that he was not moving, and that he felt no disposition to move.

Well—he wouldn't mind! One might spend quite a pleasant day or two here, if one could meet enough kind ladies to maintain the supply of bread and cheese. Not a bad idea, that! Ah, but what about Newcastle? A day lost might mean a job lost. On the other hand, to-morrow he might be dead. Thus argue some men on the verge of fifty.

"Allo—wo's that?" he muttered, all at once.

The next instant he stiffened, and his body became rigid.

"BOOM!"

The sound came with a roar. The house shook. A brass candelstick slid off the mantelpiece onto the floor.

While the laborer's eyes bulged in the empty house in Northumberland, the clerk's eyes were growing round in the King's Cross restaurant. Rounder, even, than the poached egg he had just eaten.

If he had not eaten the egg, it merely a quarter of it had remained to engage his whole attention, he would have missed the momentous remark that set his whole being aflame. But does Fate dabble in ifs? It had designed that the egg should be eaten, just as it had designed that the laborer should have been passing the empty house in Byford Moor when the rain came on.

The momentous remark was made in an undertone, by a big man to a little man. They were passing Brown's table, on their way out, and perhaps they did not notice Brown because, as a person, he was inconspicuous. But, added to this, Brown's table was in a dark corner of the room, and the two men were momentarily engrossed in their own equally dark business.

"After her!" whispered the big man. "And—if she's troublesome—don't be particular what you do to her!"

Brown's brain was not ordinarily rapid. Otherwise he would have been earning more than fifteen dollars a week. But on this Saturday

"After her!" whispered the man.

He rose above himself. Any grain of comfort was dissipated by that locked door. Locked doors are all right when you have locked them yourself. There is always something sinister about them when somebody else has turned the key.

The delayed chunk of cheese completed its journey. Other similar journeys followed. The rain continued to rattle on the windows, the wind blew fitfully, and the faint boom of the broom sounded occasionally in the distance. When the bread and cheese had all gone, Ted fingered his old pipe, and tried to be constructive in his thoughts, to offset the languorous indolence that was settling upon him. Perhaps ease induces this reaction. Many a man has set the thought of a hot bath. So Ted thought of Newcastle, to which he was trudging, and wondered whether he would find a job there, and if not, what to do about it, while the elements wrangled outside, and he drew nearer and nearer to his Moment.

And while a clerk ladled up a refractory portion of a poached egg three hundred miles away.

Suddenly an odd thought came into Ted's mind. He did not know how it came, or why.

"Suppose they are breakers?" he wondered.

He did not trouble to proceed with the inquiry. It bore no special significance. Boom! Boom! Probably they were breakers. What did it matter, anyway? It mattered much more to get his pipe to pull properly, and to sink into the comfort of the chair.

Looks as if I'm 'ere for keeps," he murmured present, discovering with interest that he was not moving, and that he felt no disposition to move.

Well—he wouldn't mind! One might spend quite a pleasant day or two here, if one could meet enough kind ladies to maintain the supply of bread and cheese. Not a bad idea, that! Ah, but what about Newcastle? A day lost might mean a job lost. On the other hand, to-morrow he might be dead. Thus argue some men on the verge of fifty.

"Allo—wo's that?" he muttered, all at once.

The next instant he stiffened, and his body became rigid.

"BOOM!"

The sound came with a roar. The house shook. A brass candelstick slid off the mantelpiece onto the floor.

While the laborer's eyes bulged in the empty house in Northumberland, the clerk's eyes were growing round in the King's Cross restaurant. Rounder, even, than the poached egg he had just eaten.

If he had not eaten the egg, it merely a quarter of it had remained to engage his whole attention, he would have missed the momentous remark that set his whole being aflame. But does Fate dabble in ifs? It had designed that the egg should be eaten, just as it had designed that the laborer should have been passing the empty house in Byford Moor when the rain came on.

The momentous remark was made in an undertone, by a big man to a little man. They were passing Brown's table, on their way out, and perhaps they did not notice Brown because, as a person, he was inconspicuous. But, added to this, Brown's table was in a dark corner of the room, and the two men were momentarily engrossed in their own equally dark business.

"After her!" whispered the big man. "And—if she's troublesome—don't be particular what you do to her!"

Brown's brain was not ordinarily rapid. Otherwise he would have been earning more than fifteen dollars a week. But on this Saturday constitutional manner to usurp a place immediately behind the small man in the rather loud check suit.

The next moment his heart gave a bound. The small man had been equally unscrupulous, and had usurped a place immediately behind the neat and attractive girl.

"Some people think they own the world!" growled an irate individual, loudly.

Brown's remark missed a beat. He feared the remark might precipitate a row, and he did not want the small man to turn and notice him. Happily, the small man did not turn, and all at once Brown realized the reason. The small man thought the remark addressed to himself, and was as unscrupulous of attracting attention as was Brown!

Brown smiled. Then the moment of false security passed. The girl spoke in a low tone. Brown did not even hear her voice, and, when she had passed through, it was evident that the little man had not heard her words, or been able to spot the destination on her ticket.

"Where to?" barked the ticket clerk—just as Brown might have barked himself, had he been a ticket clerk.

The same man showed his genius.

"Same," he said.

How Napoleonically simple! How Brown gasped at the ingenuity of mankind. Was ever a difficult fence taken more gracefully? Without emotion, and totally unconscious that the man who was buying a ticket had no notion of the station he was buying it to, the ticket clerk showed a little piece of pasteboard through the window. The small man looked at it, and then, also without emotion, shoved some notes to the ticket clerk.

Brown's forehead became frankly wet. He felt that it was dripping, and that it would rain upon the little counter that was now immediately before him. How could he take the fence?

He had a double problem. These notes! They had nearly turned his stomach. Then the tennis match at Wembley now seemed very far away. Yet, perhaps, after all, it had suddenly been brought close. Suppose he could not take this fence? How much money had he in his pocket? He had drawn his pay that morning.

He had to decide. He felt like a man on the point of receiving an enormously high catch. Could he hold the ball? Did he want to hold the ball? If he brought off the catch, he would be expected to play at Lord's. If he muffed it, he would be relegated to the comfortable, unglorious village pitea. Did he want?

Napoleon entered into him, with all his courage and resource.

Gazette Classified Ads Get Quick Results

Classified Advertising THE GAZETTE IS THE MEDIUM

through which the general public can always have its wants supplied.

THE GAZETTE will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of an advertisement. Notice of errors, typographical or otherwise, must be given in time for correction before next insertion.

Advertisements are restricted to proper classification style and type. THE GAZETTE reserves the right to edit or reject any advertisement.

Closing time for classified advertisement for publication the same day is 9:30 a. m.

ADVERTISEMENTS

- 1 Card of Thanks.
- 2 In Memoriam.
- 3 Florists; Monuments.
- 4 Taxi Service.
- 5 Notices, Meetings.
- 6 Personal.
- 7 Lost and Found.
- 8 BUSINESS CARDS.
- 9 Cleaning, Pressing, Laundering.
- 10 Dressmaking, Millinery.
- 11 Beauty Culture.
- 12 Professional Services.
- 13 Roofing, Plumbing, Heating.
- 14 Electricians, Wiring.
- 15 Building, Contracting.
- 16 Painting, Papering.
- 17 Repairing, Refinishing.
- 18 Commercial Hauling, Storage.

EMPLOYMENT

- 18 Help Wanted—Male.
- 19 Help Wanted—Female.
- 20 Help Wanted—Male or Female.
- 21 Help Wanted—Agents, Salesmen.
- 22 Situations Wanted.
- 23 Help Wanted—Instruction.

LIVE STOCK—POULTRY—PETS

- 24 Dogs—Canaries—Pets.
- 25 Poultry—Eggs—Supplies.
- 26 Horses—Cattle—Hogs.

MISCELLANEOUS

- 27 Wanted to Buy.
- 28 Miscellaneous For Sale.
- 29 Musical Instruments—Radio.
- 30 Household Goods.
- 31 Wearing Apparel—Shoes.
- 32 Groceries—Meats.

RENTALS

- 33 Where To Eat.
- 34 Rooms—With Board.
- 35 Rooms For Rent—Furnished.
- 36 Rooms For Rent—Unfurnished.
- 37 Houses—Flats—Unfurnished.
- 38 Houses—Flats—Furnished.
- 39 Office and Desk Rooms.
- 40 Miscellaneous For Rent.
- 41 Wanted to Rent.

REAL ESTATE

- 42 Houses For Sale.
- 43 Lots For Sale.
- 44 Real Estate For Exchange.
- 45 Farms For Sale.
- 46 Business Opportunities.
- 47 Wanted Real Estate.

AUTOMOBILE

- 48 Automobile Insurance.
- 49 Auto Laundry—Painting.
- 50 Tires—Tubes—Batteries.
- 51 Parts—Service—Repairing.
- 52 Motorcycle—Bicycles.
- 53 Auto Agencies.
- 54 Used Cars For Sale.

PUBLIC SALES

- 55 Auctioneers.
- 56 Auction Sales.

3 Florists, Monuments

NURSERY STOCK—Fruit and ornamental trees, shrubs and Perennials. H. O. Douglas, Phone 549. W. Cor. Washington and Monroe Sts.

7 Lost and Found

LOST—Necklace on streets last Friday. Finder please leave at Gazette Office.

9 Dressmaking, Millinery

WANTED—Washing and Ironing—206 Hill Street or phone 359-W.

12 Roofing, Plumbing

PIPES—Valves and fittings for all purposes. Bocklet's line of plumbing and heating supplies are the best. The Bocklet-King Co. 415 W. Main St.

17 Commercial Hauling

HAULING DAILY, Dayton to Xenia, Xenia to Wilmington. House to house delivery. Jesse E. Gilbert

19 Help Wanted—Female

WANTED—Experienced waitress. Apply at American Restaurant, W. Main St.

25 Poultry—Eggs—Supplies

TOWNSEY HATCHERY will custom hatch your eggs in their modern, fumigated incubators, better and cheaper than you can get your incubator or hens. No charge for custom hatching if you are not satisfied. Phone 123.

PRATT'S Baby Chick Food, Simplex

Brooders, Glass Cloth, Celoglass, Poultry Supplies. Babb Hardware Store.

BABY CHICKS HATCHED every

Monday and Thursday. Xenia Chick Hatchery, S. Whiteman St. Phone 475-R.

FOR SALE—Mammoth Bronze Turkey

eggs. Mrs. Wm. E. Atkinson. Phone 32-F-13.

FOR SALE—Brooder stoves, feeders

and waterers at half price. Mrs. W. C. Zell, Phone 356-W.

BRONZE TURKEY EGGS, White

Henry duck eggs. Myrtle McKenry. Phone Bellbrook 6-K-1.

BOARD AND ROOM for your baby

chicks. Modern conveniences, good food. Rates .05 cents per week. Make your reservations now. Townsley Hatchery, Xenia, Ohio. Phone 123.

MONEY TO LOAN ON EASY PAYMENTS

On any kind of security you have to offer—HOUSEHOLD GOODS, LIVESTOCK or AUTOMOBILES.

AMERICAN LOAN CO.

Steele Bldg. Terms 4 Mo. To 4 Yrs

26 Horses—Cattle—Hogs

HAMPSHIRE BOARS—Ready for service; also Certified seed corn. O. A. Dobbins, Cedarville.

27 Wanted To Buy

WANTED TO BUY—WOOL. Call D. A. DeWine. Phone 1228-R.

28 Miscellaneous For Sale

FOR SALE—Long Eakin Pop Corn. Crispette outfit, new. A money maker. Add. C. E. Harnisch, Spring Valley.

6 TON of mixed hay for sale. Ph.

4-K. Spring Valley, Ohio. Grover Craig.

GET YOUR seed potatoes, all varieties

also seed sweet potatoes. Lowest prices. Alex Hyman.

29 Musical—Radio

PIANOS FOR SALE—$5.00 monthly. John Harbino, Allen Building.

35 Rooms—Furnished

2 ROOMS furnished for light housekeeping, with modern conveniences. 101 E. 2nd. Phone 375-R.

46 Business Opportunities

CHATEL LOANS. Notes Bought. Second Mortgages. John Harbino, Allen Building.

Jamestown News

ENTERTAIN SOCIETY

Mrs. Anna McMill and Mrs. Russell Bowers were hostesses to the Women's Missionary Society of the U. P. Church at the home of the former, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Fred L. Nelson conducted the devotionals. Miss Della McCann had charge of the program and was assisted by Mrs. Bowers and the Misses Myrtle Lackey and Katherine Darling. The annual reports of the different departments of work were given, it being the first meeting of the society for the fiscal year. The officers-elect stood in a circle with bowed heads, while Miss Darling offered the consecration prayer. The officers for the year are: president, Miss Margaret Lackey; secretary, Miss Della McCann; treasurer, Mrs. F. W. Ogan; association secretary, Mrs. J. H. Stitt; thank offering secretary, Mrs. L. L. Gray; temperance secretary, Mrs. E. Klontz; literature secretary, Mrs. Russell Bowers; junior secretary, Miss Martha Dean. The hostess served a delicious salad course at the close of the program.

Rev. L. D. Vesey of the M. E. Church has arranged a series of church night meetings beginning Wednesday, April 10th and closing June 12th. It is planned to have classes for all ages and interesting subjects for each class, with teachers to present the same. There will also be business sessions for the official and Sunday School boards and Epworth League. The work has been carefully planned and can not fail to be interesting and profitable.

A Jamestown civic orchestra was recently organized by a group of young people. Miss Leontine Jenks is the director. The orchestra is composed of Misses Lela Thuma, Leah Glass, Eleanor Correll, Harriet Reeder, Martha Ann Baughn, Messrs. Max Jenks, Brooks Reeder, Dwight Correll, Earnest Geesey and Grover Tobin. The organization will furnish music for any city entertainments including class plays and commencements.

The W. F. M. S. of the M. E. Church will hold a market in the corner room of the opera house, Saturday, April 13, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

The senior class of the Jamestown High School presented "Apple Blossom Time" at the opera house, Friday night. A capacity house showed its appreciation of the performance.

The Jamestown P. T. A. sponsored a band concert, Tuesday evening. The director was Mr. C. H. Bohl of Leesport Centralized School. The band consisted of forty pieces and presented a splendid program.

The Jamestown Grange held its regular meeting Thursday night. After routine business a class of seven was initiated in the first and second degree, by a team of young people. A social time was enjoyed.

Mr. George Sanders has disposed of "The Variety Store" to Mr. William Ary of New Burlington, who took immediate possession of the same. Mr. Ary and family will occupy the property of Mrs. Belle Brickle, W. Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas and Mr. John Thomas, Wilmington were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thomas.

Miss Maude Aletha Bolen entertained the "Diggers Class" of the Friends' Church, Thursday evening. Some time was given to the study of "dramatic art" after which a social time was enjoyed, the hostess serving a refreshment course.

Mrs. Asah Cushman is supplying in the local school for Miss Catherine Shickley who is ill at her home, W. Xenia St.

Mrs. H. C. Lurance spent Thursday and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Manville Smith, Springfield.

Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Louise Reitzel, and Mrs. Jennie Lurance were visitors in Washington C. H., Friday.

Mrs. Charles Houser spent the week end with relatives at Frankfort.

Mrs. A. B. Thomas has returned home after spending several months with her daughters, Mrs. A. L. Weaver and Mrs. Milton Treland, in and near Xenia.

35 Rooms—Furnished

LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING rooms with bath and use of phone. Also sleeping room. Phone 360-M.

FOR RENT—3 room furnished Apt.

modern, Cor. S. Detroit and Roger St. Phone 1128-R.

37 Houses—Unfurnished

FOR RENT—Two houses, twelve rooms, bath, $25.00. Four rooms, $12.00. John Harbino, Allen Bldg.

TWO—6 room houses, newly decorated throughout, both kinds of water, electricity, on paved road and traction, six miles out. Screened-in porches and plenty garden, good school, reasonable rent. Inquire Hunt's Broom Factory or Geo. Armstrong, Goes, Ohio.

FOR RENT—1 room house, 516 W.

2nd St., $18.00 a month. Call at 516 W. Second.

46 Business Opportunities

CHATEL LOANS. Notes Bought. Second Mortgages. John Harbino, Allen Building.

Mr. Warren Collette was a business visitor in Columbus, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glass and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Otto Thorpe, Columbus. Mrs. H. D. Buckles, who has been a visitor in the Thorpe home, returned with them.

Mrs. A. G. Carpenter is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Penfield, Dayton, who has just returned from a sojourn of several months in Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Barnes were recent visitors in Dayton.

Mr. Jerry Toland and Mr. Auburn Thomas, Springfield, spent the week end with "home folks."

Harold Thompson, small son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thompson, is recovering from a serious attack of croup.

Dr. W. O. Bowers, Springfield, Friday, was a Jamestown visitor, Friday. Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson have closed their home S. Lime-stone St. and will spend the summer on their farm, near Center.

Misses Myrtle and Margaret Lackey attended the interment of Mrs. A. P. Hughes, Dayton, Thursday morning in Woodland Cemetery, Xenia.

A much enjoyed surprise was arranged by Mrs. Elizabeth Parker and Mrs. John Johnson of Cedarville, for Mrs. R. D. Bryan and Mr. Johnson, Sunday, at the home of Mrs. Parker. Friends from Columbus, Dayton, Cedarville and Jamestown were present to celebrate the birthday anniversaries.

Frederick and Robert Hook of Xenia, were recent visitors of Mr. Macey Bolen and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Vogel and Master Jack Vogel were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Black.

Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davids, Messrs. Warren Robinson, Danie Cummings, Florence and Dora Fields, Jesse Leveck and Ollie Spahr spent Sunday at Russell's Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sheeley, Springfield, visited over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Willis Glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davis, Miss Grace Fudge were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John Doster.

Misses Elizabeth Preusch, Gladys Glenn and Flo Hughes spent Saturday in Dayton.

Mrs. Della S. Wilson, 89, wife of Cassius M. Wilson, died at her home in Piqua, Tuesday at 12:45 o'clock.

She is survived by her husband, one son, Cassius, Jr., and one grandson.

Funeral services will be held at the residence Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock and at 3 o'clock at the Fairfield Cemetery with burial in Fairfield Cemetery.

BRINGING UP FATHER

THIS IS THE FAVOR I'M REQUESTING: YOU KNOW THAT YOU BEAUTIFUL DIAMOND NECKLACE YOU SOUGHT FOR MAGGIE? I WANT TO BORROW IT.

DO I REMEMBER IT? I CAN'T FORGET IT. A GUY CALLS EVERY WEEK FOR A PAYMENT ON IT.

HERE IT IS. DON'T LEND IT TO YOU, BUT DON'T LOSE IT.

DON'T WORRY. I WON'T LOSE IT. I'D HOCK IT BEFORE I'D DO THAT. HOW KIN I EVER REPAY YOU?

BY GOLLY, WHAT A FOOL I AM. WHAT DOES HE WANT WITH THAT NECKLACE?

I'LL CALL HIM UP AN' TELL HIM TO RETURN IT. HELLO, HELLO, BY GOLLY, HIS RESTAURANT DON'T ANSWER. THIS IS GITTIN' ON MY NERVES. I'LL GO DOWN THERE.

UNDERGROUND

BY J. JEFFERSON FARJEON

Copyright, 1929, by Central Press Association, Inc.

THREE ROMANTIC YOUTHS AND TWO LOVELY HEROINES DISCOVER THE SECRET OF THE WEIRD NOISES COMING FROM UNDERGROUND THE HAUNTED HOUSE.

CHAPTER I

You would not think there was much connection between a clerk eating a poached egg on toast in a King's Cross restaurant, and an out-of-work laborer munching bread and cheese in an empty house in Northumberland.

But the laborer had a beard of King's Cross, and the clerk had never heard of Byford Moor, and they had certainly never heard of each other. But Mr. Smith, who is now one with Mrs. Smith, was once enjoying pickles in Margate while she was chasing a goat in Canada, and probably you, yourself, can trace some great friendship—or enmity—to a strange, unpremeditated movement. You will be exceptional if you cannot.

The strange, unpremeditated movement of the clerk will shortly be revealed, together with the amazing journey that followed it, and bore him into romance beyond his most daring dreams. For all clerks have daring dreams. First, however, let us take a look at the out-of-work laborer in the empty house at Byford Moor, since he, too, was on the verge of a Great Moment, totally different from that which galvanized the clerk at King's Cross, and totally wedded to it.

The laborer's name was Ted. He was tall and thin, and, in his prime, tolerably strong. He was not in his prime at the moment, having been unemployed for a rather depressingly long time. Baths were events. They interested him theoretically. Had the bathroom cult developed earlier in his life—he wasn't far off fifty—his later life might have been cleaner.

It was, he found himself, a dirty business. He had been a little towards the more immediately appealing considerations of existence—eating, drinking, sleeping, work (when he could get it) for the sake of these things, and an occasional movie.

Now he sat eating bread and cheese in a neglected lounge-hall into which he had illegally climbed through a window. The weather had been a little squally, and since the house had been obviously empty, who would worry if he sought the protection of its roof? Nobody. There you were!

So he had climbed in, while the sudden rain blew in from the North Sea and made an angry patter against the windows. And he had found the roof he had sought more comforting than he had imagined, although he had suddenly shivered the moment after dropping into the ground. Being wet like, and hungry like, he would. There were comfortable, if rather faded, chairs. These was a still settee, placed conveniently near the fireplace. Of course, there was no fire. In the first place, it wasn't winter, and, in the second, the house was empty. The emptiness of the house was a further advertisement in its favor.

Still, that particular point had to be established before the shadow of a doubt before he could climb through a window. The weather had been a little squally, and since the house had been obviously empty, who would worry if he sought the protection of its roof? Nobody. There you were!

He did not trouble to proceed with the inquiry. It bore no special significance. Boom! Boom! Probably they were breakers. What did it matter, anyway? It mattered more to get his old pipe to pull properly, and to sink into the comfort of the chair.

"Looks as if I'm 'ere for keeps," he murmured present, discovering with interest that he was not moving, and that he felt no disposition to move.

Well—he wouldn't mind! One might spend quite a pleasant day or two here, if one could meet enough kind ladies to maintain the supply of bread and cheese. Not a bad idea, that! Ah, but what about Newcastle? A day's lost might mean a job lost. On the other hand, to-morrow he might be dead. Thus argued some men on the verge of fifty.

"Allo—wo's that?" he muttered, all at once.

The next instant he stiffened, and his body became rigid.

"BOOM!"

The sound came with a roar. The house shook. A brass candlestick slid off the mantelpiece onto the floor.

While the laborer's eyes bulged in the empty house in Byford Moor, Northumberland, the clerk's eyes were growing round in the King's Cross restaurant. Rounder, even, than the poached egg he had just eaten.

If he had not eaten the egg, it merely a quarter of it had remained to engage his whole attention, he would have missed the momentous remark that set his whole being aflame. But does Fate dabble in ifs? It had designed that the egg should be eaten, just as it had designed that the laborer should have been passing the empty house in Byford Moor when the rain came on.

The momentous remark was made in an undertone, by a big man to a little man. They were passing Brown's table, on their way out, and perhaps they did not notice Brown because as a personality he was inconspicuous. But added to this, Brown's table was in a dark corner of the room, and the two men were momentarily engrossed in their own equally dark business.

"After her!" whispered the big man. "And—if she's troublesome—don't be particular what you do to her!"

Brown's brain was not ordinarily rapid. Otherwise he would have been earning more than fifteen dollars a week. But on this Saturday night, it was.

He rose above himself. Anybody overhearing such a remark as he had heard would have glanced towards the door ahead of the speaker to gain a glimpse of the lady who was destined to be rough-handed should she prove troublesome, and anybody fortunate enough to catch the fleeting glimpse of her that Brown caught would have been impressed by that lady's neat and attractive appearance; but only a knight of King Arthur's time, or a modern clerk who was a little above himself, would have decided that the matter could not end there.

The clerk rose quickly, involuntarily, without any clear notion of what he intended to do. Perhaps half the impetus of rising was supplied by the shock he had just received. Shock and horror. He had been fifty-fifty. But, once upon, there was no sitting down.

Brown had to see this through. The girl had gone. The men were going. In three seconds, they also would be gone. Three seconds to decide the fate of nations!

Afterwards, Brown was amazed at the coolness and at his clear-headedness. To have taxed the men would have been abortive, and would have rendered himself conspicuous and ridiculous. It would have ruined everything. The big man would have dealt with him easily—Brown realized that in a flash—while the little man would have slipped quietly out after the girl. Above all things, Brown must cling to the inconspicuousness which was normally his. And he must stick to the heels of the little man.

"After her!" whispered the man.

disturbed. All the same, a tiny grain of comfort was dissipated by that locked door. Locked doors are all right when you have locked them yourself. There is always something sinister about them when somebody else has turned the key.

The delayed chunk of cheese completed its journey. Other similar journeys followed. The rain continued to rattle on the windows, the wind blew fitfully, and the faint boom of the breakers sounded occasionally in the distance. When the bread and cheese had all gone, Ted fingered his old pipe, and tried to be constructive in his thoughts, to offset the languorous indolence that was settling upon him. Perhaps ease induces this reaction. Many a man has set the world right in a hot bath. So Ted thought of Newcastle, to which he was trucking, and wondered whether he would find a job there, and if not, what to do about it, while the elements wrangled outside, and he drew nearer and nearer to his Moment.

And while a clerk laddied up a refractory portion of a poached egg through a window, Ted, who had been a little towards the more immediately appealing considerations of existence—eating, drinking, sleeping, work (when he could get it) for the sake of these things, and an occasional movie.

Now he sat eating bread and cheese in a neglected lounge-hall into which he had illegally climbed through a window. The weather had been a little squally, and since the house had been obviously empty, who would worry if he sought the protection of its roof? Nobody. There you were!

He did not trouble to proceed with the inquiry. It bore no special significance. Boom! Boom! Probably they were breakers. What did it matter, anyway? It mattered more to get his old pipe to pull properly, and to sink into the comfort of the chair.

"Looks as if I'm 'ere for keeps," he murmured present, discovering with interest that he was not moving, and that he felt no disposition to move.

Well—he wouldn't mind! One might spend quite a pleasant day or two here, if one could meet enough kind ladies to maintain the supply of bread and cheese. Not a bad idea, that! Ah, but what about Newcastle? A day's lost might mean a job lost. On the other hand, to-morrow he might be dead. Thus argued some men on the verge of fifty.

"Allo—wo's that?" he muttered, all at once.

The next instant he stiffened, and his body became rigid.

"BOOM!"

The sound came with a roar. The house shook. A brass candlestick slid off the mantelpiece onto the floor.

While the laborer's eyes bulged in the empty house in Byford Moor, Northumberland, the clerk's eyes were growing round in the King's Cross restaurant. Rounder, even, than the poached egg he had just eaten.

If he had not eaten the egg, it merely a quarter of it had remained to engage his whole attention, he would have missed the momentous remark that set his whole being aflame. But does Fate dabble in ifs? It had designed that the egg should be eaten, just as it had designed that the laborer should have been passing the empty house in Byford Moor when the rain came on.

The momentous remark was made in an undertone, by a big man to a little man. They were passing Brown's table, on their way out, and perhaps they did not notice Brown because as a personality he was inconspicuous. But added to this, Brown's table was in a dark corner of the room, and the two men were momentarily engrossed in their own equally dark business.

"After her!" whispered the big man. "And—if she's troublesome—don't be particular what you do to her!"

Brown's brain was not ordinarily rapid. Otherwise he would have been earning more than fifteen dollars a week. But on this Saturday night, it was.

He rose above himself. Anybody overhearing such a remark as he had heard would have glanced towards the door ahead of the speaker to gain a glimpse of the lady who was destined to be rough-handed should she prove troublesome, and anybody fortunate enough to catch the fleeting glimpse of her that Brown caught would have been impressed by that lady's neat and attractive appearance; but only a knight of King Arthur's time, or a modern clerk who was a little above himself, would have decided that the matter could not end there.

The clerk rose quickly, involuntarily, without any clear notion of what he intended to do. Perhaps half the impetus of rising was supplied by the shock he had just received. Shock

By SIDNEY SMITH

The Theater

Temperament, the bugaboo of directors and producers, has been given a legal rating by the courts of California through an opinion of Superior Judge Leon Yankwich who held that "the obedience of an artist is not the obedience of a menial."

The jurist evidently classed screen players as artists. The decision was rendered in a case which affected Jetta Goudal, whose temperamental rating is among the highest in Hollywood. By this decision she was able to collect $31,000 from the Pathe studios, formerly the De Mille company.

Miss Goudal sued for $90,000, claiming she had been dismissed in has ever worked, and is probably second only to Pola Negri in this respect. Paired with Lupe Velez, the Mexican firebrand, Miss Goudal gave D. W. Griffith more than a few hysterical moments in filming "The Lady of the Pavements."

During the legal difficulties, the terms of Miss Goudal's contract were published. She was to receive $750 a week for the first six months of the year beginning May 19, 1925 and $1,000 a week for the last six months. Each six months the salary was to be graduated until finally, in 1930, she was to be receiving $5,000 a week.

Caught! He can't get away, but he doesn't want to! Yessir, those bad movie people in Hollywood have raided Broadway again and above is their latest loot—Frederic Marsh, featured stage player.

September, 1927, despite the fact that she held a contract promising her employment until 1930. The company admitted the breach of contract but held that the action was found necessary since Miss Goudal was so temperamental as to disrupt entire shooting schedules.

Cecil B. DeMille took the responsibility for dismissing Miss Goudal. He said she had become a "nuisance" around the studio. Paul Stern, Austrian director, testified that she once "argued until the sun went down," which an expensive cast was held waiting for the cameras to start grinding. All admitted she was an excellent actress and that her pictures were artistic and financial successes. Judge Yankwich said "if she could not have performed parts of an inferior character, destructive of her artistic reputation, she was within her rights in objecting to scenes which did not give full scope to her artistic abilities." He refused her the full amount because she had made no attempt to find other employment.

Miss Goudal has had trouble with every director with whom she

DEAR NOAH—IF A BOOTLEGGER WONT DRINK HIS HOOD—IS THAT A SIGN HE KNOWS HIS STUFF? BILLY FARRAR SUMMERVILLE GA

DEAR NOAH—WHY CAN HARRY LAUDER, A SCOT, PLEASE A HOUSE FULL, WHILE A FRENCHMAN CAN Gesticulate? FRED STEWART NORWALK OHIO

DEAR NOAH—SHOULD THE LARKSPUR THE CACTUS, WOULD THE NETTLERASH? DORIN E. ELLIOTT JR. OKLAHOMA CITY OKLA

WOMEN LET NOTHING BE SECRET THAT IS A SECRET.

WOMEN LET NOTHING BE SECRET THAT IS A SECRET.

WOMEN LET NOTHING BE SECRET THAT IS A SECRET.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

THE GUMPS—The Welcome Mat Out Again

BIG SISTER—No Way for a Policeman to Act

ETTA KETT—Just a Reminder That's All—

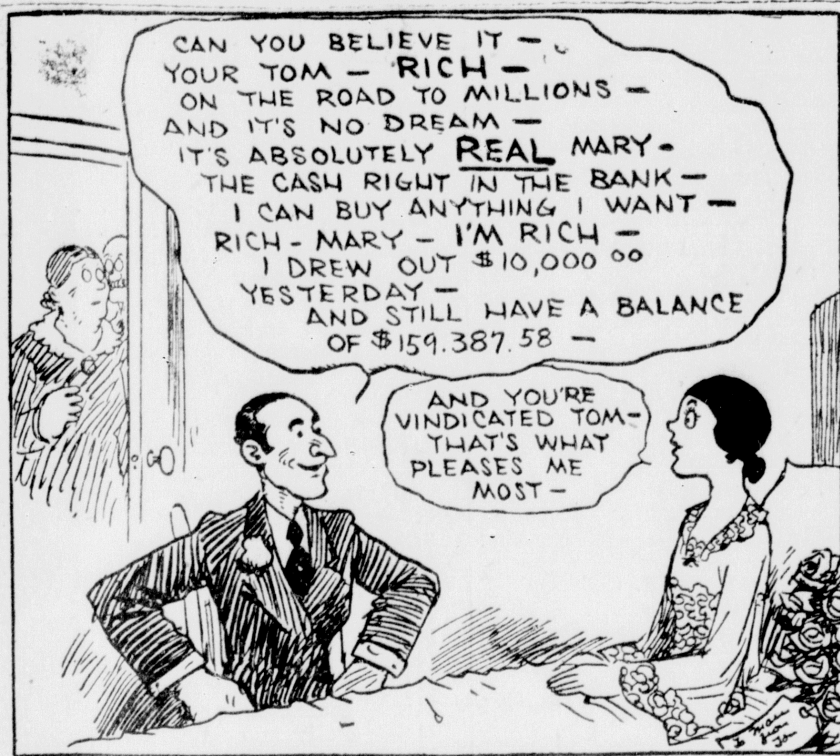

MUGGS McGINNIS—Take Your Choice

HIGH PRESSURE PETE—The Kid Oughta Know

"CAP" STUBBS—Th' Plan Has Its Drawbacks

ETTA KETT—Just a Reminder That's All—

MUGGS McGINNIS—Take Your Choice

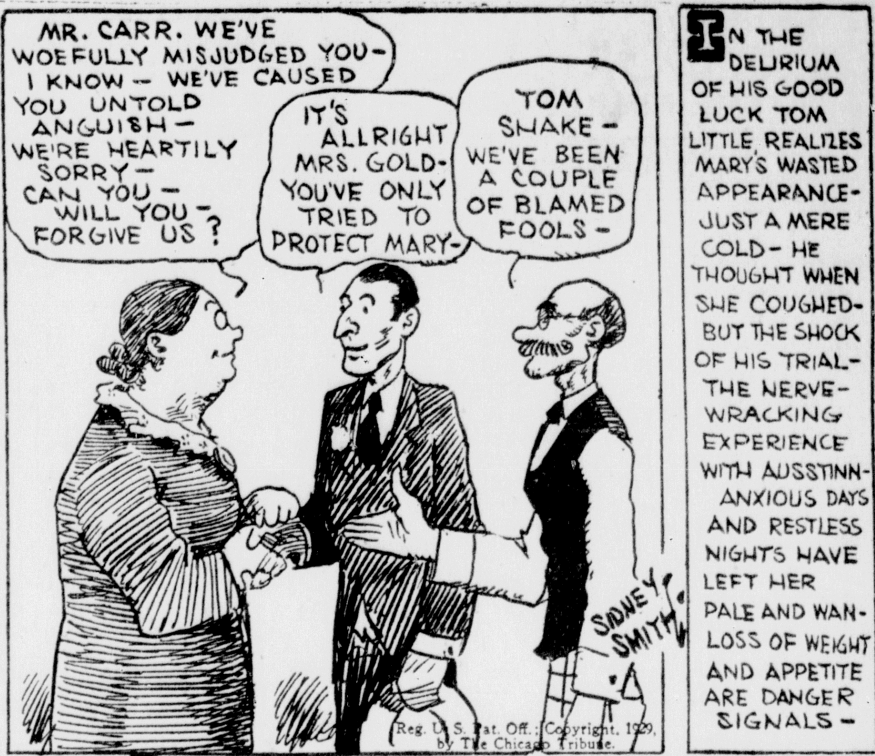

HIGH PRESSURE PETE—The Kid Oughta Know

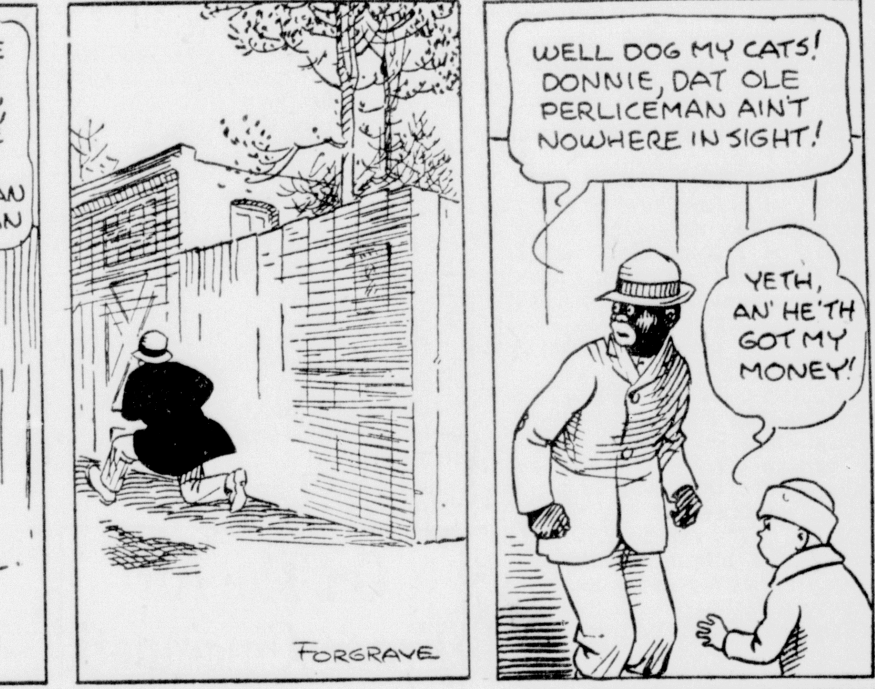

"CAP" STUBBS—Th' Plan Has Its Drawbacks

"CAP" STUBBS—Th' Plan Has Its Drawbacks

ETTA KETT—Just a Reminder That's All—

MUGGS McGINNIS—Take Your Choice

HIGH PRESSURE PETE—The Kid Oughta Know

"CAP" STUBBS—Th' Plan Has Its Drawbacks

"CAP" STUBBS—Th' Plan Has Its Drawbacks

By PAUL ROBINSON

By WALLY BISHOP

By SWAN

By EDWINA

The Theater

Temperament, the bugaboo of directors and producers, has been given a legal rating by the courts of California through an opinion of Superior Judge Leon Yankwich who held that "the obedience of an artist is not the obedience of a menial."

The jurist evidently classed screen players as artists. The decision was rendered in a case which affected Jetta Goudal, whose temperamental rating is among the highest in Hollywood. By this decision she was able to collect $31,000 from the Pathe studios, formerly the De Mille company.

Miss Goudal sued for $90,000, claiming she had been dismissed in has ever worked, and is probably second only to Pola Negri in this respect. Paired with Lupe Velez, the Mexican firebrand, Miss Goudal gave D. W. Griffith more than a few hysterical moments in filming "The Lady of the Pavements."

During the legal difficulties, the terms of Miss Goudal's contract were published. She was to receive $750 a week for the first six months of the year beginning May 19, 1925 and $1,000 a week for the last six months. Each six months the salary was to be graduated until finally, in 1930, she was to be receiving $5,000 a week.

Caught! He can't get away, but he doesn't want to! Yessir, those bad movie people in Hollywood have raided Broadway again and above is their latest loot—Frederic Marsh, featured stage player.

September, 1927, despite the fact that she held a contract promising her employment until 1930. The company admitted the breach of contract but held that the action was found necessary since Miss Goudal was so temperamental as to disrupt entire shooting schedules.

Cecil B. DeMille took the responsibility for dismissing Miss Goudal. He said she had become a "nuisance" around the studio. Paul Stern, Austrian director, testified that she once "argued until the sun went down," which an expensive cast was held waiting for the cameras to start grinding. All admitted she was an excellent actress and that her pictures were artistic and financial successes. Judge Yankwich said "if she could not have performed parts of an inferior character, destructive of her artistic reputation, she was within her rights in objecting to scenes which did not give full scope to her artistic abilities." He refused her the full amount because she had made no attempt to find other employment.

Miss Goudal has had trouble with every director with whom she

Twenty Years '09- Ago -'29

The farmers who organized a movement to boycott the Citizens Telephone Company because the company increased the country phone rate from $1.00 to $1.25 per month, are said to have weakened somewhat in their determination.

Officials of the O. S. and S. O. Home were in Dayton Thursday getting estimates and looking over the apparatus at Bomberger Park for the purpose of obtaining ideas for the construction of a modern playground at the home.

The final Members Recital of the first year of the Women's Musical Club was given in the Presbyterian Church, by the second division of that organization which has afforded its audiences a number of enjoyable entertainments during the past winter.

NONSENSE

NOAH NUMSKULL

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

THE GUMPS—The Welcome Mat Out Again

BIG SISTER—No Way for a Policeman to Act

ETTA KETT—Just a Reminder That's All—

MUGGS MCGINNIS—Take Your Choice

HIGH PRESSURE PETE—The Kid Oughta Know

"CAP" STUBBS—Th' Plan Has Its Drawbacks

MR. CARR WE'VE WOEFULLY MISJUDGED YOU - I KNOW - WE'VE CAUSED YOU UNTOLD ANGUISH - WE'RE HEARTILY SORRY - CAN YOU - WILL YOU - FORGIVE US?

WELL DOG MY CATS! DONNIE, DAT OLE PERLICEMAN AINT NOWHERE IN SIGHT!

Excuse me - are you miss Kett? - and who put this note in the milk bottle?

WHADDAYA WANT, KID? A DOLLARS WORTH OF ROACH POISON

AW - C'M ON OUT TIPPIE - WE WON'T GIVE YOU NO BATH - HONEST!!

By LESLIE FORGRAVE

By PAUL ROBINSON

By WALLY BISHOP

By SWAN

By EDWINA

Passed Up!
By ROE FULKERSON

CHAPTER LX

"What's the matter? What's the matter? What are you screeching about now?" demanded the old man.

Betty stuffed her handkerchief into her mouth to stop laughing. Rising from his knee she swung the swivel chair around and pointed dramatically to Andy, standing in the door, his fists clinched.

Mr. Adair broke into a loud guffaw. Reaching out, he put his arm around Betty and drew her to him.

Andy looked fiercely at them a moment and then stalked, stiff legged, across the floor to his bag and traps. He grabbed the bag, kicked the tennis racket, rod and clubs to one side, and started to the door.

"One minute, young man," cried Mr. Adair, rising and stepping between him and the door. "Where are you going? Where are you going?"

"Anywhere, to get out of the sight of that girl!"

"Don't be too hasty! You better wait a minute!"

"Oh, Andy, don't act like that!" exclaimed Betty, laughing hysterically.

"Young man, stand right where you are! I took you into this business and made you vice president. I gave you all my powers and prerogatives. You are going away on a vacation. I came back into harness. I suppose you think I haven't the same right to kiss the pretty girls in the office that you have!"

"I saw you doing it. Father, get out of my way!"

"Oh, Andy, let me explain!" Betty ran to take hold of his arm.

"Explain?" He shook her hand off his arm. "What is there to explain, except that you aren't the kind of woman—"

"Shut up!" cried his father, sternly. "Be mighty careful what you say about my daughter."

"Your what?"

"You heard me! You can marry this girl if she has had taste enough to swap a good job for a fool of a husband. But you can't shake her hands off you like that! No use shaking 'em off. They will get you in the end, anyhow."

Andy's bag dropped from his hand with a thud. He did not notice it.

"What-er-why-er—" He looked from one of them to the other.

"Don't stand there gasping like a goldfish! I hate people when they gasp like goldfish!"

Betty raised her shining eyes. Mr. Adair put an arm around her.

"I don't understand," Andy said, looking at her inquiringly.

"George Harris is engaged!" laughed Betty.

"To you?"

"No! He passed me up for a red-headed waitress!"

"I don't understand!" repeated Andy, in a dazed way.

"Please, mister, will you marry me?" begged Betty.

"I guess you understand that!" the old gentleman cried, impatiently. "You know what those words mean! I suppose you want her to repeat it. I hate stupid people. I never thought I would raise a boy as dumb as you are. I hope her children are like her and not like you! I never saw any one so—"

His voice trailed off. The young people were not paying the slightest attention to him.

Andy had both his arms around Betty's waist. Her hands had crept up his chest, inch by inch, until they reached his shoulders, and then clasped themselves around his neck. His head was bent toward her; her shining eyes were

On The Air
From Cincinnati

- WEDNESDAY
- WLW:
- 5:00—Tea Time Trio.
  - 5:30—Livestock.
  - 5:40—Polly and Anna.
  - 6:00—Time.
  - 6:00—Cincinnati Club Orchestra.
  - 6:24—National news.
  - 6:30—Diners.
  - 6:59—Weather.
  - 7:00—Modern drama.
  - 7:15—Vocal Trio.
  - 7:30—Ohio Eagles program.
  - 8:00—Mobil Oil Hour.
  - 8:30—Foresters.
  - 9:00—Cincinnati Conservatory Orchestra.
  - 9:30—Perfect Circle hour.
  - 10:00—Weather.
  - 10:00—Burnt Corkers.
  - 10:30—Salon group.
  - 11:00—Time and training camp news.
  - 11:00—Blue Ridge Mountaineers.
  - 11:30—Cincinnati Club Orchestra.
  - 12:00—Garber Orchestra.
  - 12:30—Organ recital.
  - 7:00—Up with a smile.
- WFBE:
- 5:00—Time.
  - 5:00—Classics and recorded novelties.
  - 6:00—Serenaders.
  - 7:00—Metropole Orchestra.
  - 7:30—Health talk.
  - 7:40—Time and weather.
  - 7:45—Scrap book man.
  - 8:00—Pathfinders.
  - 9:00—Boxing.
  - 10:30—Songs and jokes.
  - 10:45—Fuller's Orchestra.

- WKRC:
- 5:10—Fasfoto hour.
  - 5:25—Pat program.
  - 5:40—Orpheum program.
  - 8:55—Stock time and weather.
  - 9:00—Van Heusen program.
  - 9:30—Smokers.
  - 10:00—Glee Club.
  - 10:30—Daguerrotypes.
  - 11:00—Time and weather.
  - 12:00—Pfandt's Orchestra.

- THURSDAY
- WLW:
- 6:30—Top O' The Morning.
  - 7:30—Organ program.
  - 8:00—Exercise.
  - 8:30—Health talk.
  - 8:35—Devotions.
  - 9:00—Womans hour.
  - 9:05—She of the dancing feet.
  - 9:08—Dictionary.
  - 9:10—Health talk.
  - 9:25—Keeping house.
  - 9:30—Celery talk and cooking chat.
  - 10:00—Dr. Royal S. Copeland.
  - 10:30—Livestock.
  - 10:40—Convenient kitchens.
  - 10:53—Paint talk.
  - 11:00—School of cookery.
  - 11:30—Weather, river, market and police.
  - 11:55—Time.
  - 12:00—Luncheon music.

- 12:15—Organ program.
- 12:30—Garber Orchestra.
- 1:00—Town and country.
- 1:15—Livestock reports.
- 1:25—Markets.
- 1:30—School of the air.
- 2:10—Geography.
- 3:15—Matinee players.
- 3:50—Closing stock.
- 4:00—Book talk.
- 4:15—Woman's Radio Club.
- 4:30—Old friends and faces.
- 4:45—The Rhyme Reaper.
- 5:00—Hawlians.
- 5:30—Livestock reports.
- 5:40—Polly and Anna.
- 6:00—Grennan program.
- 6:30—Eclipse program.
- 6:59—Weather.
- 7:00—Chamber of commerce.
- 7:15—Organ program.
- 7:30—Seth Parkers old fashioned singing.
- 8:00—Serenaders.
- 8:30—Menmen men.
- 9:00—Pictorettes.
- 9:30—Maxwell concert.
- 10:00—Hollingsworth Hall.
- 10:30—Weather.
- 10:30—Mid Continental program.
- 11:00—Time and training camp.
- 11:00—Instrumental trio.
- 11:30—Polly and Anna.
- 12:00—Jan Garber and orchestra.
- 12:30—Variety hour.

- WKRC:
- 10:45—Shoppers records.
  - 11:00—Time and weather.
  - 11:25—Recipe period.
  - 11:30—Musical program.
  - 12:10—Pep talk.
  - 12:15—Tru-Lax music.
  - 2:30—Domestic Arts Guild.
  - 2:45—Theronold Talk.
  - 3:00—Krauss program.
  - 5:10—Fasfoto hour.
  - 5:25—Pat program.
  - 5:40—Orpheum program.
  - 6:00—Weather.
  - 8:55—Time and weather.
  - 9:00—Old fashioned minstrels.
  - 9:30—Sonora Hour.
  - 10:00—Fashion Review.
  - 10:15—Musical Foursome.
  - 10:30—The Columbians.
  - 11:00—Time and weather.
  - 12:00—Mens Glee Club.
- WFBE:
- 7:03—Time announcements.
  - 7:05—With you at breakfast.
  - 9:00—Horoscope hour.
  - 7:59—Weather report.
  - 8:00—Piano and organ musical.
  - 9:00—Kentucky's hour.
  - 10:00—The Rosemary duo.
  - 12:30—Old fashioned music.
  - 12:45—Scrap Book Man.
  - 1:00—Foreign recordings.
  - 2:00—Majestic hour.
  - 3:00—Merchants musical.

- 4:00—Kiddies Kabaret.
- 5:00—Time.
- 6:00—Novelties.
- 6:30—Serenaders.
- 7:00—Metropole Orchestra.
- 7:30—Health talk.

- 7:40—Time and weather.
- 7:45—Scrap Book Man.
- 8:00—Sparton pathfinders.
- 9:00—Uncle Jake Rutz and his Orchestra.
- 9:30—Songs and jokes.

- 10:00—Fuller's Orchestra.
- WSAI:
- 9:50—Livestock.
- 11:00—Opening stock.
- 11:15—Radio Household Institute.
- 12:40—Stock quotations.

FORWARD-LOOKING PEOPLE WILL INVESTIGATE THIS CAR

Brakes—another All-American feature that arouses
owners' enthusiasm

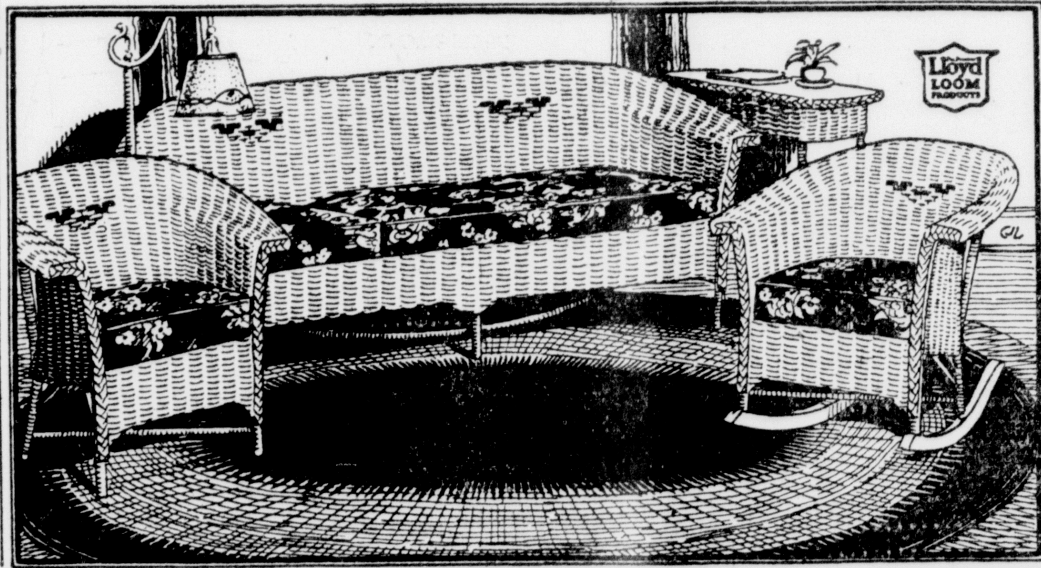

The brakes of the New Oakland All-American are internal-expanding . . . fully protected . . . unaffected by mud or rain or ice. They are always positive and smooth in action . . . always exceptionally quiet . . . Yes . . . Oakland's brakes are far from ordinary. But the same is true of everything else in the New All-American Six. Come in . . . and we will show you how much more it offers for its price.

Prices $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

PURDOM & McFARLAND
The New OAKLAND
ALL-AMERICAN SIX
PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

National Lloyd Week
April 8th to 13th

During this week we are able to show you a beautiful new line of reed and fiber furniture. The colorful finish and beautiful upholstery of these suites is worth a place in the best room of your home.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday we are offering a sample 3 pc. suite of woven wicker for only

$39.85

Take Advantage of the Easiest Terms in Xenia and Buy the Finest Furniture at the Greatest Saving to You.

NO FIRST PAYMENT NECESSARY

3-Pc. Suite as Shown - - $59.75

Brown's
FURNITURE COMPANY

21 Green St.

Xenia, O.

Did you get your ticket for the 3 Pc. Fiber Suite to be given away absolutely Free Monday night, 9 p. m., April 15.

"The Barrymore"

Presented for Spring, 1929, by

Lord
Rochester
Styling

WE SINCERELY recommend "The Barrymore" for the young man who is sincerely concerned with life—who dresses with one eye on his future wife and the other on his future position. "The Barrymore" should help him win both.

$30 to $55

Tailored by Michaels-Stern, Rochester, New York

The Criterion
Value First Clothiers

Xenia,

Ohio

WHAT?
WHEN?
WHERE?

FIBRE SUITE
GIVEN AWAY
Monday Night
9 p. m., April 15
BROWN'S
Xenia Branch
21 Green St.

ORPHIUM

TONIGHT
TOM TYLER

With FRANKIE DARRO in
"TYRANT OF RED GULCH"
Also A Mack Sennett 2 Reel Comedy

THURSDAY

"UNITED STATES SMITH"

A heart juggling story of two marines, a girl and an immigrant lad. From the story by Gerald Beaumont. With Eddie Gribbon, Lila Lee, Mickey Bennett and Kenneth Harlan.

Also 2 reel comedy and Pathe News

Bijou

TONIGHT
"REDSKIN"

With

RICHARD DIX

Also Charley Chase two reel comedy

THURSDAY

Jos. P. Foody Post, No. 95

Presents

"THE WORLD WAR"

Passed Up!

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MADE MEN LIKE HER

By ROE FULKERSON
© 1929
by Central Press Association, Inc.

CHAPTER LX

"What's the matter? What's the matter? What are you screaming about now?" demanded the old man.

Betty stuffed her handkerchief into her mouth to stop laughing. Rising from his knee she swung the swivel chair around and pointed dramatically to Andy, standing in the door, his fists clinched.

Mr. Adair broke into a loud guffaw. Reaching out, he put his arm around Betty and drew her to him.

Andy looked fiercely at them a moment and then stalked, stiff-legged, across the floor to his bag and traps. He grabbed the bag, kicked the tennis racket, rod and clubs to one side, and started to the door.

"One minute, young man," cried Mr. Adair, rising and stepping between him and the door. "Where are you going? Where are you going?"

"Anywhere, to get out of the sight of that girl!"

"Don't be too hasty! You better wait a minute!"

"Oh, Andy, don't act like that!" exclaimed Betty, laughing hysterically.

"Young man, stand right where you are! I took you into this business and made you vice president. I gave you all my powers and prerogatives. You are going away on a vacation. I came back into harness. I suppose you think I haven't the same right to kiss the pretty girls in the office that you have!"

"I saw you doing it. Father, get out of my way!"

"Oh, Andy, let me explain!" Betty ran to take hold of his arm.

"Explain?" He shook her hand off his arm. "What is there to explain, except that you aren't the kind of woman—"

"Shut up!" cried his father, sternly. "Be mighty careful what you say about my daughter."

"Your what?"

"You heard me! You can marry this girl if she has had taste enough to swap a good job for a fool of a husband. But you can't shake her hands off you like that! No use shaking 'em off. They will get you in the end, anyhow."

Andy's bag dropped from his hand with a thud. He did not notice it.

"What-er-why-er—" He looked from one of them to the other.

"Don't stand there gasping like a goldfish! I hate people when they gasp like goldfish!"

Betty raised her shining eyes. Mr. Adair put an arm around her.

"I don't understand," Andy said, looking at her inquiringly.

"George Harris is engaged!" laughed Betty.

"To you?"

"No! He passed me up for a red-headed waitress!"

"I don't understand!" repeated Andy, in a dazed way.

"Please, mister, will you marry me?" begged Betty.

"I guess you understand that!" the old gentleman cried, impatiently.

"You know what those words mean! I suppose you want her to repeat it. I hate stupid people. I never thought I would raise a boy as dumb as you are. I hope her children are like her and not like you! I never saw any one so—"

His voice trailed off. The young people were not paying the slightest attention to him.

Andy had both his arms around Betty's waist. Her hands had crept up his chest, inch by inch, until they reached his shoulders, and then clasped themselves around his neck. His head was bent toward her; her shining eyes were raised to his. Slowly her head went back, his stooped lower. The old gentleman exclaimed: "Harrump! I guess I'm in the way. No place for me, even in my own office!"

One of Andy's hands loosened from Betty's waist and waved him toward the door. He stamped his way out when Betty's voice called him.

"Oh, please wait, father! I want to kiss you again. I want to play with your top-knot!" She kissed Andy and, pulling loose from him, rushed to the old gentleman.

He held himself very erect and stern, but she tip-toed up to kiss him on the cheek, reaching for the erect lock of hair on his white head.

"Let it alone! Let it alone!" he said. "You'll wear it out. I need it for my grandchildren to play with!"

Andy sat on the desk laughing at the scene. "The little girls can all play with it, but not one of all my sons shall do it. It's entirely too effeminate!" he cried.

"I hope every one of the little boys have a top-knot just like it!" answered Betty.

"Let me alone! Let me alone! A lot of work isn't being done around this office today! Get out of here, both of you, or I will!"

"Father, I think that's a splendid idea. Go to your office and tell the girl in the reception room I am out. I have a lot of important things to say to Betty!"

"Huh!" answered Mr. Adair, senior. "I bet you'll say mighty little and do a lot of—"

He walked out without finishing the sentence. They were doing it already!

(THE END)

On The Air From Cincinnati

WEDNESDAY

WLW:

5:00—Tea Time Trio.
5:30—Livestock.
5:40—Polly and Anna.
6:00—Time.

6:00—Cincinnati Club Orchestra.
6:24—National news.
6:30—Diners.
6:59—Weather.

7:00—Modern drama.
7:15—Vocal Trio.
7:30—Ohio Eagles program.
8:00—Mobiloil Hour.

8:30—Foresters.
9:00—Cincinnati Conservatory Orchestra.
9:30—Perfect Circle hour.

10:00—Weather.
10:00—Burnt Corkers.
10:30—Salon group.
11:00—Time and training camp news.

11:00—Blue Ridge Mountaineers.
11:30—Cincinnati Club Orchestra.
12:00—Garber Orchestra.
12:30—Organ recital.

7:00—Up with a smile.
WFBE:

5:00—Time.
5:00—Classics and recorded novelties.
6:00—Serenaders.
7:00—Metropole Orchestra.

7:30—Health talk.
7:40—Time and weather.
7:45—Scrap book man.
8:00—Pathfinders.

9:00—Boxing.
10:30—Songs and jokes.
10:45—Fuller's Orchestra.

WKRC:
5:10—Fasfoto hour.
5:25—Pat program.
5:40—Orpheum program.
8:55—Stock time and weather.
9:00—Van Heusen program.
9:30—Smokers.
10:00—Glee Club.
10:30—Daguerotypes.
11:00—Time and weather.
12:00—Pfandt's Orchestra.

THURSDAY

WLW:

6:30—Top O' The Morning.
7:30—Organ program.
8:00—Exercise.
8:30—Health talk.
8:35—Devotions.

9:00—Woman's hour.
9:05—She of the dancing feet.
9:08—Dictionary.
9:10—Health talk.

9:25—Keeping house.
9:30—Celery talk and cooking chat.
10:00—Dr. Royal S. Copeland.
10:30—Livestock.

10:40—Convenient kitchens.
10:53—Paint talk.
11:00—School of cookery.
11:30—Weather, river, market and police.

11:55—Time.
12:00—Luncheon music.

12:15—Organ program.
12:30—Garber Orchestra.
1:00—Town and country.
1:15—Livestock reports.
1:25—Markets.
1:30—School of the air.
2:10—Geography.
3:15—Matinee players.
3:50—Closing stock.
4:00—Rook talk.
4:15—Woman's Radio Club.
4:30—Old friends and faces.
4:45—The Rhyme Reaper.
5:00—Hawlians.
5:30—Livestock reports.
5:40—Polly and Anna.
6:00—Grennan program.
6:30—Eclipse program.
6:59—Weather.
7:00—Chamber of commerce.
7:15—Organ program.
7:30—Seth Parkers old fashioned singing.
8:00—Serenaders.
8:30—Mennen men.
9:00—Pictorettes.
9:30—Maxwell concert.
10:00—Hollingsworth Hall.
10:30—Weather.
10:30—Mid Continental program.
11:00—Time and training camp.
11:00—Instrumental trio.
11:30—Polly and Anna.
12:00—Jan Garber and orchestra.
12:30—Variety hour.

WKRC:

10:45—Shoppers records.
11:00—Time and weather.
11:25—Recipe period.
11:30—Musical program.
12:10—Pep talk.
12:15—Tru-Lax music.
2:30—Domestic Arts Guild.
2:45—Theronold Talk.
3:00—Krauss program.
5:10—Fasfoto hour.
5:25—Pat program.
5:40—Orpheum program.
6:00—Weather.
8:55—Time and weather.
9:00—Old fashioned minstrels.
9:30—Sonora Hour.
10:00—Fashion Review.
10:15—Musical Foursome.
10:30—The Columbians.
11:00—Time and weather.
12:00—Mens Glee Club.

WFBE:

7:03—Time announcements.
7:05—With you at breakfast.
7:55—Horoscope hour.
7:59—Weather report.
8:00—Piano and organ musical.
9:00—Kentucky's hour.
10:00—The Rosemary duo.
12:30—Old fashioned music.
12:45—Scrap Book Man.
1:00—Foreign recordings.
2:00—Majestic hour.
3:00—Merchants musical.

4:00—Kiddies Kabaret.
5:00—Time.
6:00—Novelties.
6:30—Serenaders.
7:00—Metropole Orchestra.
7:30—Health talk.

7:40—Time and weather.
7:45—Scrap Book Man.
8:00—Spartan pathfinders.
9:00—Uncle Jake Rutz and his Orchestra.
9:30—Songs and jokes.

10:00—Fuller's Orchestra.
WSAI:
9:50—Livestock.
11:00—Opening stock.
11:15—Radio Household Institute.
12:40—Stock quotations.

FORWARD-LOOKING PEOPLE WILL INVESTIGATE THIS CAR

Brakes— another All-American feature that arouses owners' enthusiasm

The brakes of the New Oakland All-American are internal-expanding . . . fully protected . . . unaffected by mud or rain or ice. They are always positive and smooth in action . . . always exceptionally quiet . . . Yes . . . Oakland's brakes are far from ordinary. But the same is true of everything else in the New All-American Six. Come in . . . and we will show you how much more it offers for its price.

Prices $1145 to $1375, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring coters and Loveloy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

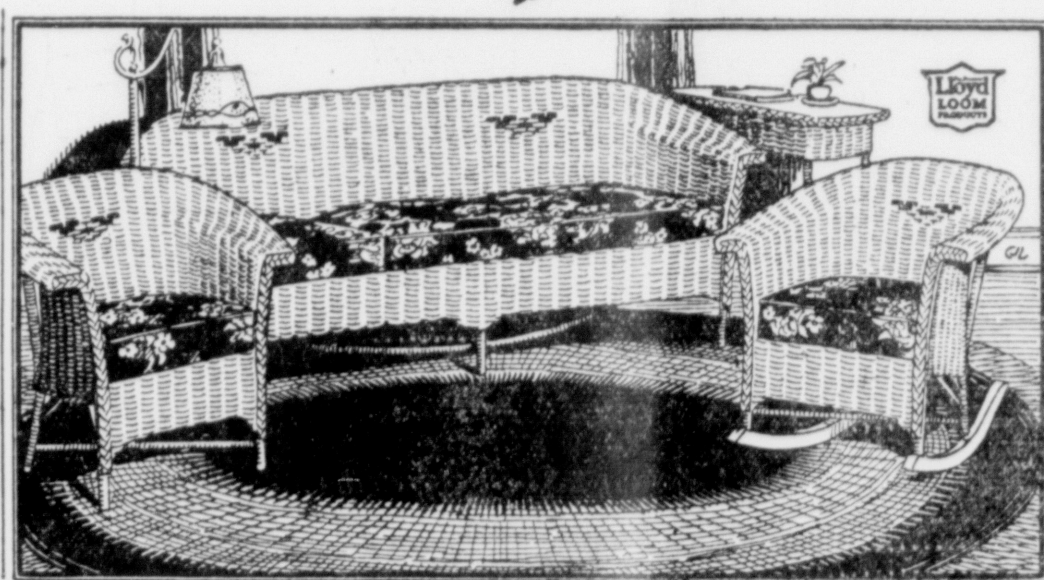

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

PURDOM &amp; McFARLAND

The New OAKLAND ALL-AMERICAN SIX

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

National Lloyd Week April 8th to 13th

During this week we are able to show you a beautiful new line of reed and fiber furniture. The colorful finish and beautiful upholstery of these suites is worth a place in the best room of your home.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday we are offering a sample 3 pc. suite of woven wicker for only

$39.85

Take Advantage of the Easiest Terms in Xenia and Buy the Finest Furniture at the Greatest Saving to You.

NO FIRST PAYMENT NECESSARY

3-Pc. Suite as Shown - - $59.75

Brown's

FURNITURE COMPANY

21 Green St.

Xenia, O.

Did you get your ticket for the 3 Pc. Fiber Suite to be given away absolutely Free Monday night, 9 p. m., April 15.

WHAT?
WHEN?
WHERE?

FIBRE SUITE
GIVEN AWAY
Monday Night
9 p. m., April 15
BROWN'S
Xenia Branch
21 Green St.

ORPHIUM

TONIGHT
TOM TYLER

With FRANKIE DARRO in
"TYRANT OF RED GULCH"
Also A Mack Sennett 2 Reel Comedy

THURSDAY

"UNITED STATES SMITH"

A heart juggling story of two marines, a girl and an immigrant lad. From the story by Gerald Beaumont. With Eddie Gribbon, Lila Lee, Mickey Bennett and Kenneth Harlan.

Also 2 reel comedy and Pathe News

Bijou

TONIGHT
"REDSKIN"

With
RICHARD DIX
Also Charley Chase two reel comedy

THURSDAY

Jos. P. Foody Post, No. 95

Presents

"THE WORLD WAR"

Beauty That You Like To Eat!

"E" BRAND JELLY DESSERT

How lovely! And to think that this mound of clear rich color that sparkles like a huge gem is really delicious and wholesome food! This dessert, topped with snowy whipped cream, will lift the simplest meal out of the commonplace and give it a festive note that all will enjoy. Because it is made of only the pure, sweet juices of sun-ripened fruits combined with a tasteless gelatine "E" BRAND JELLY DESSERT is not only a little clearer and more beautiful in color than other desserts of similar nature but it is noticeably richer and finer in flavor. TRY IT and see if this is not true. An ideal dish for children, invalids and all who enjoy dainty, refreshing desserts.

IN FLAVORS
Strawberry
Lemon
Orange
Cherry
Raspberry
Chocolate
Pineapple
Pistachio

THE EAVEY
COMPANY
Wholesale Grocers
More Than 60 Years of Business
Integrity Back of All "E"
BRAND Products
Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded